TRUCE SIGNING WITHIN HOURS INDICATED IN KOREA REPORTS

GETTING BACK INTO HARNESS. British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, holding hat and cigar, stands at doorway of his country home at Westerham, England, before leaving by car for Chequers, official country home of prime ministers about 60 miles away. It was first time since he was ordered to take a rest nearly a month ago that he left Westerham. The move apparently was a first step toward getting back into harness.

Money Bills Taken Up by Senate Group

Agreement by Tonight Aim of Appropriations Committee Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—Meeting behind closed doors, the Senate Appropriations Committee sought today to cut through bitter controversies and agree on terms of multi-billion-dollar money bills — among the last major hurdles to adjournment of Congress next Friday.

The promise of a fight from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on two of the huge appropriations measures raised question whether the 23-member group could meet its announced goal—agreement by nightfall, to permit the start of Senate debate on the bills next Wednesday.

Before the committee were:

1. The House-passed $4,432,678,000 foreign aid appropriation, which the Eisenhower administration has demanded should be boosted to about five billions and some senators say should be cut a billion.

2. A House-approved "catch-all" supplemental appropriations measure carrying, among other things, millions for the government's information-propaganda program, which McCarthy contends should get "not one cent" unless he gets assurances of a "house cleaning."

Also hanging fire were an 11th hour bill passed by the House yesterday to put up 150 million dollars for emergency loans and other steps to relieve drought-stricken areas of the nation, and a request from President Eisenhower for permission to use 200 millions of Korean War funds for rehabilitation of South Korea after a truce.

There was talk of hitching one or both of these onto the catch-all bill as amendments, a time-saving device in the rush toward the windup of Congress.

The supplemental measure, as the House approved it, would provide just $168,155,584 of the $1,069,996,084 the administration had requested to run the information-propaganda activity and a wide variety of other programs in the current fiscal year.

Some committee members predicted privately it will be increased sharply by committee amendments.

Details About Time, Place Still Secret

Speculation Grows With Order Banning Arms at Airport

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Military personnel heading for Korea from Japan were ordered to give up arms and ammunition at Tokyo's Tachikawa Airport tonight amid mounting reports that a Korean truce may be signed within a matter of hours.

An important announcement expected from Gen. Mark Clark's Tokyo headquarters was delayed at the last minute without explanation.

There was no hint as to what the announcement would be, but Clark might announce the time for signing an armistice halting more than three years of bloodshed.

Allied and Communist liaison officers who met five times at Panmunjom today were reported to have wrapped up final details of a truce and completed plans for the signing ceremonies.

Exact arrangements for the signing were top secret but informed quarters indicated original plans for the top military commanders of both sides to appear at Panmunjom have been changed and the truce negotiators will sign instead.

There was no explanation for the order banning arms and ammunition aboard Korea-bound planes, but it was an order which would be given if a cease fire had been agreed upon.

The order came from the commander of the 374th Troop Carrier Wing and presumably came from higher up.

Revised plans for the truce signing reportedly call for the senior armistice negotiators — Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., for the U. N. Command and North Korean Gen. Nam Il for the Communists—to sign the truce and put it into force. It would halt the fighting within 12 hours.

The top military commanders—Gen. Mark Clark, North Korean Marshal Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai—would sign at their respective headquarters later.

No reason was given for the reported change in plans, but Korean sources said Friday Kim might not

Senator Tobey of Crime Probe Fame Dies at 73

WASHINGTON (AP)—A blood clot in his heart took the life of Sen. Charles W. Tobey, the fiery New Hampshire Republican who used a ready store of Bible quotations to fight crime or anything else he opposed.

Last night, just two days after his 73rd birthday, Tobey died at the nearby Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital of coronary thrombosis. He had suffered an attack in his office yesterday afternoon.

"There will never be another Sen. Tobey," said Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who headed the Crime Investigating Committee on which Tobey served.

"His outstanding contribution on the committee will be remembered around the nation," Kefauver added. "People always responded to him after his stern lectures."

The death wipes out the Republican majority in the Senate, but New Hampshire's Gov. Hugh Gregg a Republican, is expected to name a Republican to fill the vacancy. The Senate lineup now stands: 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one Independent, Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Tobey's green eyeshade, to protect him against the glare of television lights—and his way of dressing down accused racketeers with words from the Bible and the classics—were almost a trademark of the Kefauver Committee's 1951 investigations.

The committee dug into big-time gambling, underworld alliances and vice conditions in cities from coast to coast. Tobey, who said the probe showed racketeering was a "national disease," once interrupted a hearing to plead, with tears streaming down his face, for a return to religion.

But the peppery senator could be harsh if he felt the occasion demanded. He once told a railroad executive to "cut out the bunk" and another time denounced "fat and sleek lobbyists with round heads and round bottoms."

Or he could shut off an acrimonious exchange between his colleagues with an out-of-this-world question, as he did once in a debate over price controls by demanding:

"Who killed cock robin?"

He insisted on voting his own convictions, regardless of his party's stand. He explained it this way:

"When party unit is brought about at the expense of one's convictions, one has no recourse but to express his convictions for what influence they may generate".

When the Republicans took over control of Congress this year, Tobey continued his crime-busting investigations as head of a commerce subcommittee looking into waterfront racketeering.

The group held extensive hearings on the situation on the New York-New Jersey waterfront and

Senate Pays Respects To Sen. Tobey, Adjourns

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate laid aside its crowded legislative schedule today to adjourn until noon Monday out of respect for Sen. Tobey (R-NH), who died last night.

Interrupting its pell-mell rush toward adjournment, the Senate held only a brief session at which tributes were paid to the colorful New Hampshire senator.

State's Ruling May Be Sought In Speed Cases

Special to The Star

DELAWARE—An opinion may be requested from the attorney general of Ohio as an aid to arresting officers of speed violators, Delaware County Prosecutor Clyde E. Lewis reported Friday.

This action may be taken to clear up confusion created last week in Delaware after Common Pleas Judge Whitney handed down a decision that a Delaware automobile salesman, charged with speeding 70 miles an hour, was not violating the law.

In making this decision, the judge cited a clause in the Ohio General Code stating that a person must be found guilty of operating a vehicle at a lesser or greater speed than prescribed by law and must be proved to be endangering life according to the conditions of the vehicle, highway, traffic and weather.

Following this decision, the the state highway patrol issued a statement saying that officers would continue making arrests on the basis of driving in excess of 50 miles an hour.

Capt. David W. Unkle, enforcement officer for the patrol, said: "We don't interpret the law, we just enforce it, and the law states that driving more than 50 miles an hour is prima facie evidence of speeding, and that is the basis on which we will make arrests."

Polio Center Gains Support

Goal of $10,000 Set In Delaware County

Special to The Star

DELAWARE — Plans for raising $10,000 in Delaware County toward the establishment of the Magnetic Springs Foundation, a polio rehabilitation center, were given a boost as several county organizations pledged their support.

The center, under the direction of Dr. K. W. Keever, needs $250,000 to remodel a former hotel before it can start operating similarly to the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation.

Among Delaware County organizations backing the fund-raising are American Legion posts, county granges, Delaware Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Eagles lodge, reported Don James, head of the local planning committee.

3 Killed in Crash Of Jet Bomber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three Air Force officers were killed yesterday in the flaming crash of a six-engine jet bomber at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

The dead were Maj. John S. Childs, 29; Maj. Eugene V. Broemelsiek, 38, and Capt. Melvin F. Skiff, 31, all of Columbus.

The Air Force could not say who was piloting the 2½ million dollar RB47 bomber, largest of its kind. It was attempting a "touch-and-go" landing—trying to touch the runway and then zoom skyward again—when a wing dipped, the plane swerved, skidded 1,500 yards and burst into flames.

OK Expected On Fund for Famine Relief

Bill Allows President To Send Surplus Farm Commodities Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders expected the Senate to give quick approval today to a 100-million-dollar fund which President Eisenhower could use to send surplus farm commodities overseas for famine relief.

Acting Republican Leader Knowland of California said he would call the measure up during the unusual Saturday session (9 a. m. EST).

"I know of no opposition," said Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee which gave unanimous approval to the proposal yesterday.

A separate measure to set up a 500-million-dollar fund to sell farm surpluses for foreign currencies also was approved by the Senate farm group yesterday.

Aiken said this program would be considered later.

As the famine assistance measure reached the Senate, it had been trimmed down on some features and broadened on others, compared with the President's request of June 30.

Eisenhower first asked two-year authority to give or sell to "friendly nations" any government-held surplus farm commodities. Dubious lawmakers said that could cover from three to five billion dollars worth of farm commodities.

In addition to fixing a limit of 100 million dollars on the experiment, senators also limited the time to next March 15. That would

Attacking Reds Beaten Off by U.S. Marines

Three U.N. Outposts Near Panmunjom Hit by 3,500 Chinese

SEOUL (AP) — American Marines defending three hill positions beat off 3,500 attacking Chinese today northeast of Panmunjom, where Allied and Red negotiators put the finishing touches on a Korean armistice.

A Chinese regiment hit three Western Front outposts in furious assaults in drizzling rain that quickly carried into Marine trenches, the U. S. 8th Army said.

One outpost—Esther—was lost in a bitter hand-to-hand fight, but was recaptured by counterattacking Leathernecks.

The Chinese kept up the battle, however, and were putting on pressure hours after the battle started, the Army said.

U. S. 5th Air Force planes flew more than 300 sorties through the stormy weather, dumping bomb loads with electronic and radar sights.

The Air Force said 10 Allied planes went down in Communist territory during the week ended Friday. Two were Sabre jets lost in air combat with Red fighters. Seven planes—three Thunderjets, two Panther jets, two Sabres — were downed by ground fire, and one Sabre was lost to unexplained causes the Air Force reported.

The 8th Army said numerous patrol and probing contacts flared across the muddied battlefront.

The biggest Red thrust hit the Marines on the Western Front.

His Widow, Fireman Attend

Casey Jones Monument Unveiled in Mississippi

VAUGHAN, Miss. (AP)—Casey Jones' beloved whippoorwill whistle echoed once again across Mississippi while a monument was unveiled in this village where the famed train engineer died in the blinding crash of the "Old 382."

Casey's 83-year-old widow and Sim Webb, the Negro fireman to whom he yelled "jump, Sim, jump!" just before the crash 53 years ago, attended the unveiling late yesterday in this whistlestop on the Illinois Central line.

Mrs. Jones rode into Vaughan on the IC's crack streamliner, train No. 1. The train that Casey rode to his death at almost the same spot also was the IC No. 1, "The high rightwheeler he rode to fame."

Casey's spry little widow now lives in Jackson, Tenn., and reared two of Casey's sons to follow in their father's footsteps on the railroad.

The years rolled back for Sim Webb as he gazed on a model of "Old 382" with Casey in the cab, his hand on the throttle. Casey's whistle was donated for the celebration by a Missouri man.

Sim can almost recite minute by minute the account of the "Cannonball's" last run in 1900. From the time they left Memphis, Tenn., an hour and 35 minutes late, to the time they got to the S-curve at Vaughan where they were only two minutes off schedule, Sim can retrace the historic run mile by mile.

At one point on that ill-fated curve Sim said he looked out the window and saw the caboose of the freight train ahead.

"My Lord, Mr. Casey, there's something on the main line!" Sim yelled.

Casey must have seen it at the same time because his hand was on the brake.

It was then that Casey screamed "jump, Sim, jump!"

Sim said when Casey was found in the smoking wreckage, his hand was still on the brake.

Some 2,500 persons, the largest crowd in the history of the village community 35 miles north of the Mississippi capital of Jackson, gathered from the valleys that flank the IC's tracks and jammed Vaughan's one street to pay tribute to Casey's memory.

Lose Revenue or Friends?

Bill Repealing Movie Tax Puts Ike on Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was put squarely on the spot today by congress' passage of a bill to repeal the 20 per cent tax on movie theater tickets.

If he signs the bill, the estimated net loss in federal revenue will be 100 million dollars a year and other industries may ask for similar tax relief.

If he vetoes it, he will be rejecting a bill which won support of top Republicans, such as acting Senate Leader Knowland of California and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the conference of all GOP senators.

Knowland, like Vice President Dixon, hails from California, heart of the motion picture industry.

The House and Senate which acted yesterday, passed it by overwhelming voice votes. But neither took a roll call tally to show whether the necessary two-thirds to override a veto could be mustered.

The President won his biggest legislative fight of the session so far with a plea that the excess profits tax on business must be extended six months to provide 800 million dollars of additional revenue to fight the federal deficit.

Sen. Williams (R-Del) said in an interview:

"I do not see how the bill can escape a veto in view of the need for revenue. I think the movie people have a good case, but so have a lot of other industries hit hard by excise taxes."

Knowland and Milllikin said in interviews they did not know what Eisenhower would do. They said the matter had not been discussed at White House conferences involving legislative leaders. However, the Treasury Department has opposed the bill.

Hollywood has been in the doldrums ever since television became popular. About 5,000 movie houses have closed since the end of World War II. Another 5,000, out of the 18,000 still open are reported to be operating in the red.

Many theater operators who testified for the bill said they did not plan to cut prices by the amount of the tax if the measure became law. They said they needed the extra revenue to get them in the black.

3rd Marines Assigned To Far East Duty

QUANTICO MARINE BASE, Va. (AP)—The 3rd Marine Division is being sent to the Far East, White House Secretary James C. Hagerty announced today.

Hagerty, here with President Eisenhower for a conference of military and civilian leaders, made the announcement in reply to reporters' questions.

The 3rd Marine Division is headquartered at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Part of the division, however, is in Hawaii.

The 1st Marine Division has been in Korea since early in the war, but Hagerty said he could not say whether that division will remain or be withdrawn from the war zone.

"The only thing I can say," Hagerty told reporters, "is that the 3rd Marine Division has been assigned to Gen. Mark Clark in the Far East theater."

Clark is supreme commander in the Far East.

The order for the movement of the division was issued "within the last four days," Hagerty said.

There were reports yesterday that units of both the 2nd and 3rd Marine Divisions in this country were being alered for rapid movement to Korea. The 2nd is headquartered at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Officials said then that as a purely precautionary measure, all leaves had been cancelled and men away from their stations at Lejeune and Pendleton had been recalled.

The normal wartime strength of a Marine division is 2,000 men.

Man Runs Onto Track, Is Killed by Racing Cars

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Charles Baxter of Dayton, 27-year-old race car owner, was killed last night when he ran onto the track of the Kil Kare Speedway during the 25-lap feature race.

Baxter could have been killed by his own car, driven by a brother, Lowell. He ran into a pack of cars. None could say which car hit him.

Dr. H. C. Schick ruled his death accidental.

Baxter was a spectator standing in the pit area of the speedway. A minor collision occurred on the track and the red warning light flashed on, directing drivers of the stock car racers to slow down.

Baxter, apparently figuring the race was over, jumped the guard rail and ran into the pack of cars. He died in Greene Memorial Hospital.

Senate Pay Bill Blasted Heavily

It's 'Sneaky, Crooked' Says Member of House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-passed bill with a potential built-in pay raise for members of Congress was lambasted today by two House members as "sneaky, crooked" and "a backdoor approach."

It was apparent that the bill, passed late Thursday by the Senate with no opposition, debate or fanfare, would have tough sledding in the House.

Republican leader Halleck of Indiana told the House yesterday he hopes the Judiciary Committee will consider the bill next Tuesday and act on it.

Rep. Burdick (R-ND), a member, said it would get out of that committee only over his opposition.

Burdick, who long has claimed that members of Congress are paid enough already, called the Senate proposal "a sneaky, crooked" way to get a pay raise without voting directly on the issue.

He told newsmen he doubted the bill would get serious consideration.

"If the members think they need a pay raise, let them stand up and vote directly on that issue and not pass the buck," Burdick said.

He said he does not think House members, who must seek re-election next year, would care to vote directly on a bill to raise their own pay.

Supporting Burdick's stand, Rep. Gross (R-Iowa) called the bill "a backdoor approach," adding:

"If we want to raise our salaries, we should have courage enough to stand up and vote directly on the issue."

The House this session already has voted financial relief for members of Congress. It wrote into the annual legislative appropriation bill a provision to allow members to deduct all their Washington living expenses when they figure their income tax.

The Senate has not yet acted on this.

Here's Party Line On Fairy Tales

BERLIN (UP) — East German Communists have rewritten fairy tales to purge them of fairy godmothers and turn princes into revolutionaries.

By their own admission, the Communists are purging the Grimm brothers and Hans Christian Andersen of "romantic bourgeois tendencies" and investing them with "socialist - realist values."

The official Communist Party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, disclosed "Cinderella" has been rewritten to eliminate the fairy godmother "who has no place in a Marxist fairy tale."

In this "Red Cinderella," the king is "unmasked as a witless minor despot," his advisers revealed as "ridiculous bureaucrats" and members of the court as "decadent paraistes."

The young prince, the newspaper says, "becomes a revolutionary who rejects his previous fruitless parasite existence."

The newspaper said the original version of "Cinderella" had this defect:

"The conflict of the fairy tale is limited to the personal relationship of Cinderella and her stepmother and step-sisters and is resolved on this personal basis alone, moreover by the inverventionof a supernatural power. The author of the new version has enriched the fable with socially valid motives."

In the Communist tale, the fairy godmother is replaced by oppressed domestic animals.

The Communist-edited Berliner Zeitung said:

"The task of editors is to purify the fairy tale by studying the social relationships during the probable time of the appearance of the fairy tale, and by making a scientific analysis of its accordance to the teaching of hysterical materialism."

The Chemnitzer Volkstimme said:

"The purpose of fairy tales is to demonstrate that when people take their fate in their own hands many fairy-like things become reality. Then mountains are moved, water flows uphill, plants bear hundreds of different fruits, as Mitschurin taught, and the earth becomes rich and fruitful and a fine home for all, just as we see it in the Soviet Union."

A small child adjusting his eyes to small print is doing hard work, says the Better Vision Institute.

Cattle Feeders Plan Barbecue

Event Set July 30 at Hardin Fairgrounds

Several Marion County cattle feeders will attend the annual summer roundup and beef barbecue of the Ohio Cattle Feeder's Association which will be held at the Hardin County Fairgrounds on July 30.

More than 1100 persons attended each of the two previous round ups which were held in Union County Fairgrounds. The program this year will begin at 10:15 a.m. Tom Masterson of Truscot, Texas will then give his views on cattle prices and the future of the business. Masterson is a cattle rancher in Texas.

Allen K. Randolph, secretary of the Virginia Cattlemen's Association is scheduled to discuss development of the cattle business east of the Appalachians at 11 a.m.

Noon is the time when the barbecue will take place. This will be under the supervision of the Ohio State University Meats Laboratory with Prof. Kunkle and Prof. Cahill in charge.

After the meal, Fred Hatch, commission man of Chicago, Ill., will give an outlook of next year's cattle operation. This will be followed by a panel discussion on the question "Are costs too high to make money feeding cattle"

J. H. Warner of Ohio State University will be the moderator for the discussion. Other members of the panel will be Robert Backrack of Plymouth, Dwight Wise of Camden, Sylvanus Lugbill of Archbold, W. A. Martin of Kenton, Allen Randolph of Keene, Va., Tom Masterson of Truscot, Tex., Fred Hatch of Chicago, Ill., and Mark Knoop of Troy.

Navy To Promote Atomic Expert, Keep Him on Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has decided to add an admiral's gold braid to the uniform that Capt. Hyman G. Rickover, its atomic propulsion expert, was once scheduled to doff because he was twice passed by for promotion.

Rickover, 53-year-old native of Chicago, was listed among 29 captains selected for promotion to rear admiral. The announcement by the Navy last night brought recollections of the congressional uproar last spring, when a secret selection board passed him up the second time.

By law, this would have forced his retirement last June 30. But the Navy took special action in March to keep him on active duty another year and clear the way for his promotion.

What Secretary of the Navy did was to:

1. Invoke his authority under law to keep Rickover on duty another year and make the retention in service immediate.

2. Order a Navy promotion board to meet this month and to promote one engineering captain experienced in the field of atomic propulsion—a good description of Rickover.

A 1922 graduate of Annapolis, Rickover has been a captain since 1942. During most of World War II, he served in the Navy's Bureau of Ships in Washington and won the Legion of Merit for his work in improving electrical equipment.

Five-Man Board Set Up To Handle Recreation Program

Richwood Takes Over Operation of Lake, Park

THIS VIEW OF THE RICHWOOD LAKE swimming area shows a portion of the beach. Boating is another popular recreation at the lake.

A VIEW OF THE SHELTER HOUSE at the south end of Richwood Lake. The shelter contains concession stands, bath houses and locker rooms for the convenience of visitors.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD—The town of Richwood has leased a 12-acre lake and picnic area.

Appropriately enough, the park area is called Richwood Lake and is located just northwest of the town. Until this year, the area was a state park. Last year the city managed upkeep of the state-owned park by means of donations from Richwood residents and business firms. This year Richwood obtained a long-term lease on the park and set up a five-man park board. Members of the board are: John Livingston, Bert Ballinger, Carl Bugg, Tom Thomasson and Ted Collier. Park supervisor is Don McDaniel.

Park activities include swimming, row boating, fishing, picnicking and general sports. Facilities include a swimming pool which has been roped off from the general lake area, with a sandy beach, diving boards and bathhouses, picnic area with tables, shelter house and fireplaces for cooking, a playground with swings, teeter-totters, climbing bars and merry-go-round, and basketball courts. A tennis court is being constructed.

The lake water has been restocked with crappies, blue gill and bass and fishing seems to be pretty good. Although motor boats are not allowed on the lake, row boating is permitted.

The lake, which covers some 12 acres, is spring-fed and was at one time a stone quarry. The swimming pool reaches a graduated depth of 11 feet. Pool hours are from 2-8 p.m. daily and on week ends.

Swimming lessons to those who want them are available from 9 to 10 and 10 to 11 a.m. daily. Robert Clouse, a teacher in the Richwood school system, is instructor. Lifeguards are Mike Bernhard, Gary Hosey and Don McDaniel.

A concession stand at the park is in charge of the junior class at Richwood High School, which receives the proceeds for the class treasury. Admission money at the pool is put into a fund for improvement of the park.

This year, in an effort to make the lake known to area residents, park workers have put up signs throughout the town of Richwood which point the way to the park. First season's pool attendance record was made one Sunday when park officials estimated 1,000 persons took a dip in the pool.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

A letter inviting past presidents to attend a picnic August 31 at Lincoln Park was read when the members of the auxiliary to Marion G. I. Post No. 584 met on Wednesday evening at the Veterans Memorial Home. The letter came from Mrs. Harry Baldauf, secretary of the newly organized Marion County Past Presidents parley. During the meeting committees were organized to carry out the post's projects for the year.

In many cases, the wild ancestors of domesticated animals have become extinct.

LIFEGUARD DON McDANIEL stands in readiness on the beach at Richwood Lake. His pretty admirers are Polly Jo Allen, Martha Ann Brobeck and Merideth Matlock.

A GROUP OF THE VISITORS to Richwood Lake enjoy the cool comfort of the water. The lake and park grounds were recently improved for the greater enjoyment of the public.

U. of Illinois Head Resigns

Trustees Fail To Give Vote of Confidence

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Dr. George D. Stoddard has resigned as president of the University of Illinois.

Stoddard said today he submitted his resignation, effective Feb. 1, 1954, last night when the university Board of Trustees declined to give him a vote of confidence. The board accepted his resignation.

The resignation climaxed a long feud between Dr. Stoddard and Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, vice president in charge of the university's professional schools in Chicago.

Dr. Ivy, who now is on leave of absence from his post, was an advocate of full research with the cancer drug, krebiozen. Stoddard ordered the university drop research on the controversial drug last November after the American Medical Association said the drug had no proven value in the treatment of cancer.

Dr. Stoddard also recommended the trustees abolish Ivy's position as vice president but that Ivy remain on the staff as a professor and head of the department of clinical studies.

The trustees thus far have taken no action on the suggestion that the vice presidency be abolished.

Stoddard, who had met with the trustees for 3½ hours last night at what he called an "informal budget discussion" said the no confidence vote came as a complete surrise.

BREAD PRICES TO RISE

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bread prices are slated to go up a cent a loaf here early next week. An industry spokesman said other baked goods also would increase in price as a result of pay boosts given AFL bakery workers and drivers employed by 32 wholesale baking companies.

Health Nurse Returns From Polio Meeting

Mrs. Anne Sedelmaier, county health nurse, has just returned from a workshop meeting of more than 250 volunteers of National Foundation county chapters in Cincinnati, where problems and progress in the polio fight were reviewed with Basil O'Connor, president of the March of Dimes organization, and other polio officials.

Emphasizing that no polio vaccine is ready for use this summer and that gamma globulin, the blood derivative found effective as a temporary preventive of paralytic polio, is in critically short supply, Mrs. Sedelmaier reported that "Polio probably will present much the same problems this summer as in the recent past."

She pointed out that national incidence of the disease this year is already about 12 per cent ahead of the same period in 1952—which was the worst year in recorded polio history, with 57,628 cases reported across the country.

"Fortunately, she added, "we are all so much more aware of polio symptoms these days that we can count on early diagnosis and prompt treatment. And many cases will be 'suspects' or non-paralytic ones which often can be diagnosed and treated just as well in their own homes as in hospitals."

Dr. Kenneth S. Landauer, assistant medical director of the National Foundation, told the group that the treatment trend today emphasizes certain advantages of home care for such patients, especially those living near treatment centers.

"With the aid of a consultant, if necessary, the family physician often can diagnose and care for these patients at home, sparing them the fatigue, nervous tension and excitement brought on by hospitalization," he added. "Home care avoids the psychological disadvantages of separation from the family and the difficult adjustment to a strange evironment. And, most important, it eases the strain on hospitals during epidemics, releasing beds and professionally-trained personnel more urgently needed to care for the really serious cases."

Want Special Dessert? Try This Funny Cake

There's an old Pennsylvania Dutch saying, "Eat myself done and get all full" and one of the most pleasant ways of doing this, so they think, is to fill themselves full of "Funny Cake."

"Funny Cake" is a combination cake and pie, so whether your favorite dessert is pie or whether it's cake this enticing dessert should appeal to you.

It's extra tempting when it's served warm with a large spoonful of maple walnut ice cream. This super treat takes a little doing, but as its name implies, it's fun to make and even more fun to eat.

CARAMEL FUNNY CAKE

Ingredients: (For pastry) 1½ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup blended lard shortening, 2 to 3 tablespoons water; (for sauce) 1 cup sugar, ½ cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons light cream, dash of salt; (for cake) 1¼ cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon double acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup blended lard shortening, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 egg, unbeaten, 3 tablespoons chopped nuts.

Method: For pastry, combine flour and salt; cut in shortening until mixture is consistency of corn meal. Sprinkle with cold water. Put dough on waxed paper. Press and knead gently into a ball and let stand for 15 to 20 minutes at room temperature while sauce is being made.

For sauce, place sugar in heavy saucepan and heat slowly until melted and brown, stirring constantly. Add water slowly, stirring vigorously. Cook and stir until sugar has dissolved. Remove from heat; add cream and salt. Set sauce aside to cool.

Roll pastry on lightly floured board to fit into a 9-to 10-inch glass pie plate. Line plate with pastry, letting it extend 1 inch beyond the edge of the pie plate. Turn edge of pastry under and make a high fluted rim.

For cake, have all ingredients at room temperature. Start oven for moderate heat (350 F.). Sift flour once before measuring. Measure into sifter flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Place shortening in mixing bowl. Sift in dry ingredients. Add milk and vanilla and mix until all flour is dampened.

(Mix by hand or at a low speed of electric mixer. 150 strokes by hand equal 1 minute to beating on mixer.) Then beat 2 minutes. Add egg and beat 1 minute longer.

Pour batter into pastry lined pie plate. Pour lukewarm sauce gently over cake batter. When cake is baked, sauce will form a layer between cake and pie shell. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Bake in moderate oven (350) F. 50 to 55 minutes, or until done.

Cake is best served warm. If desired, serve with a large spoonful of walnut ice cream.

He began coaching the first football team at Cardington in recent years when he first came to the Cardington School. His football record the past three years was 9-0, 8-1, and 7-2. His 1951-52 basketball team had a 22-4 record and advanced in the district tournament.

Morrow Farmer Gets High Yield in Wheat

Special to the Star

MT. GILEAD — One of the highest wheat yields for the year has been reported at the Carl Long-acre farm, at the Morrow-Marion County border on Route 30-S west of Iberia. The yield was 40.8 bushels to the acre on a 17-acre field.

The 1953 wheat crop is unusually good with most wheat testing 60 pounds to the bushel. The average yields are running 30 to 50 bushels to the acre with the lowest yield reported at 17 bushels to the acre. Wheat headed out prior to Memorial Day, May 30, which is an earlier than average date.

Combining started July 8, one of the earliest dates in years, for the record crop, by Albert Sautter, with a twelve foot, self-propelled harvester, which is becoming popular in Marrow County's harvest fields.

Columbus Bus Strike Could End Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Buses may roll again in Columbus Monday morning.

A strike that has cut off public transportation for 170,000 riders since July 16 will end if striking drivers and mechanics ratify an agreement union officials reached last night with the Columbus Transit Co.

A meeting of the CIO Transport Workers Union is scheduled at 11 a. m., Sunday.

The agreement would increase the 450 drivers present $1.75 and hour wage scale to $1.82 in six months, and to $1.90 in a year. It would decrease the present 48 hour work week to 44 hours in six months and 40 hours in a year.

The 140 mechanics, who already have a 40 hour week, will get wage increases which make their weekly pay equal with drivers.

The agreement was reached shortly before midnight after a 13½-hour bargaining session with Federal Mediator George H. Bell.

Costly Sacrifice

By George Sokolsky

SOKOLSKY

Being, myself, a cigar and pipe man, I look with superior disdain upon those who smoke cigarets. I consider it discrimination of the rankest kind that I am not permitted to smoke either a cigar or a pipe in an airplane, although one hostess was kind enough to suggest that I might chew my cigar.

William Baxter, the economist, has sent me a mimeographed statement which must have gone out to thousands and probably has some purpose.

THIS IS IT: "While it is known that the American family throws into the garbage pail enough food to feed several countries each year, it has just been revealed that we are equally extravagant with cigarets.

"A cross-country check of cigaret butts by economist, William J. Baxter, reveals that American smokers throw away each year 1—1-15 billion dollars in cigarets. One-half of the cigaret finds it way into the ashcan . . ."

I suppose if I stopped smoking really good cigars and gave myself over to bubble-gum, I could feed a couple of Fiji Islanders, after a few administrators got their salaries, overhead and travel costs, and some investigators spent a year or two discovering what Fijis like to eat, although the Fijis knew it all the time, having been told by their mothers.

But would it be wise? The Male Animal rises in the morning ill-disposed to normal social relationships until he has filled his lungs with tobacco smoke in some form and has consumed a reservoir of coffee. (I, myself, drink tea for breakfast, although I am told that that is a Freudian complex, dissentiment.)

THE MALE ANIMAL, having done the aforesaid, is in a condition to say, "good morning, darling!"

If the lady of the house has been similarly conditioned (to use the language of the great Pavlov), she does not comment on yesterday's doings but gets a forward look in her eye and speculates on what she will do today.

At that point, the Male Animal, his mouth repositing whatever form of weed he prefers, sallies forth to his daily chores well disposed to life in general.

Shall we change our ways by eliminating tobacco altogether in order that we may be enabled to send cigarets to the East Germans?

This is a question of weighty moment because the best way to win people and hold their friendship is to give them an excellent nickel cigar (now priced at 15 cents).

Just think of the great missionary work done by the GI's in the last war by the distribution of cigarets, particularly to the pretty girls of enemy countries!

THOSE ENEMY countires are now friendly countries, while the friendly countries, which got billions of dollars worth of arms, planes, machinery and even cash, but no cigarets, are now our enemies or neutral.

Does not that prove beyond doubt that instead of sending food, we should send tobacco to all the peace-loving and democratic countries? If it does not prove that what does it prove?

Once on Father's Day, I was presented with a pipe that has a cover. I thought that was a sarcastic exhibition.

The trouble with that pipe is that it holds too little tobacco and goes out even faster than ordinary pipes. So it reclines most of the time where I can forget about it conveniently.

Nothing is pleasanter than to forget conveniently.

-:-

THE KIND of pipe I would really enjoy is one of those long, old-fashioned German peasant arrangements that took half an ounce of tobacco at a time. This could be smoked with great contentment while thoughts ranged through the mind on this or that.

Someday, maybe I shall write a column on this or that. It might sound liked a learned discussion of problems that shake the world.

Those great problems are always with us so that politicians can make speeches that sound profound and columnists can write columns about the profound speeches.

No, Brother Baxter, do not deprove me of my smokes to feed the peasants of Pakistan.

True, my heart bleeds for them, but I need my smoke to keep peace in my household.

Without a daily dose of tobacco, the Male Animal might see things as they are.

Imagine what would happen then, Mr. Baxter! Do you want to be the author of such tragedy?

Dog's Century

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—They used to say every dog has his day. But today the dog is enjoying his century.

The 20th century was once hailed by former Vice President Henry Wallace in a famous speech as "The century of the common man."

The common man is still dadedly asking, "Look, nobody really is blaming this century on me, is he? I am just a common man. They can't hold it against me, can they? Or can they?"

But the common dog and the uncommon dog are having the best time of any four-legged, tail-wagging tame animal in history. They have been petted into an era of canine plenty.

Many a family today that can't figure how to send the kids to a university will raise the dough somehow to see that Bowser gets a college education. The kids themselves help raise the money. As wise teen-years-old children themselves they are cynical of discipline, but they think a teen-month-old dog needs it to learn a few tricks to help him through life.

The Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says many people at vacation time abandon their pets, which in New York state is a misdemeanor and some folks think ought to be a felony.

I think they are right. I detest the idolatry of pets, a lonesome sickness of our age, because in many cases it means a disappointed person has turned his back on human love to lavish his or her affection on a cat or dog. That is a cancer of the soul, and it is unhealthy.

But this extravagant love of animals that may be abnormal in grownups is desperately normal in children, who need to express fondness as a cow must give milk. Adults fondle, rebuke and direct them—these children.

As they are only little adults themselves, and in time will at least be physically larger adults later, the children need a target, too, to kiss and boss and quarrel with. For this purpose a dog or a cat is better than a doll or a dream playmate because it is more responsive.

A pet helps a child imitate and express the same emotions that its parents feel toward it, and thereby the child matures into responsibility. The child grows up.

That is why it is criminal to abandon or forget a pet once it has become part of the family circle. Recently the daughter of a friend of mine wrote back from summer camp how she felt about her dog.

"I am having a fine time," she said. "But if Bonnie isn't there when I come home, I will kill myself."

She herself was having fun and was well taken care of. Yet she still felt within herself the immortal need of also taking care of something that needed her.

Dogs and cats both have in this century probably increased their life expectancy by as much as the average human being has, and perhaps more.

But I cannot go with single people or childless couples who get so ecstatic about either dogs or cats that they exalt them from doghood or cathood into the status of mankind. I don't believe in buying them mink jackets in winter or letting them sleep on the sofa.

Perhaps I had better drop the subject of cats because I am not a cat lover.

Dogs I know, dogs I love. And though this be the century of the spoiled dog, I think no dog is truly happy unless he feels he is doing something for the family that belongs to him.

U.S. Stake in Korea

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a Korean truce apparently very close, what benefits did the United States get from three years of fighting?

At the moment these seem to be the positive benefits:

1. The Communists' first postwar aggression was stopped and the South Korean Republican was saved from them.

2. The United Nations, of which the United States is the main supporter, met its first big challenge: Could the members act together to stop aggression? They could and did.

3. The shock of the Korean invasion pushed the Western world into a big re-armament and closer alliance, thus making it a tougher target for bigger attack later, if the Communists planned one.

4. Small countries, seeing the U. N. rush to Korea's rescue, were heartened to withstand any future pressures and threats from the Communists.

Summed up, this was the net effect of the four benefits:

The United States, because of its re-arming, is in better shape to handle Russia, if it has to, than it was before Korea. Communist expansion, for those three years at least, was stopped cold.

Yet, these benefits which seem so obvious and real now, may in the end prove to have been illusory and temporary. The whole Korean War, because of future events, may turn out to have been wasted effort by the United States.

Why? Because Korea, through infiltration and subversion, may yet wind up in the Communist camp.

And China, with time to grow stronger economically and militarily after a truce, may be able to terrorize the rest of Asia into submission without the necessity of direct military attack.

The Western Allies, through fatigue, economic entanglements with the Communist bloc, or disagreements with the United States, may grow soft toward Moscow and move closer to it than before Korea.

A severe depression in Western Europe, for instance, would be a supreme test of each country's ability to resist Communist pressure, internally and externally.

The people of the United States, long tired of the Korean War, later on may be reluctant—to the point of being too late—to move against new Communist aggression elsewhere.

But guesses about the future are not the meat of action. The Eisenhower administration can not feed upon guesses in trying to reach decisions and peace in Asia.

It can only hope that what seem now like positive gains from the Korean War will prove, in the history books of the future, to have been true and lasting benefits.

To make them last the administration will have to work ceaselessly for the rest of its term, with its eyes wide open.

In the peace negotiations with the Chinese one wrong decision on the part of the United States could lead to such disaster for this country and such victory for communism that the whole Korean War would have been in vain.

Columbus Bakery Cited in 78 Cases Of Food Poisoning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Omar Bakeries of Columbus faces a possible $100 fine and 30-day imprisonment for officials in connection with 78 cases of food poisoning in the Columbus and Newark areas, Lima, Zanesville, Chillicothe, Delaware and Mansfield.

The company was cited in Municipal Court yesterday for violation of a city ordinance which reportedly caused the food poisonings.

Ollie M. Goodloe, Columbus health commissioner, said an ordinance prohibits selling pies containing cooked custard with milk, cream or eggs between May 15 and Oct. 1. Those ingredients reportedly set off harmful reactions in hot weather.

Dr. Frederick H. Wentworth, chief of the state division of communicable diseases, said the 78 food poisoning cases recently reported were traced to the pies. The Omar hearing is scheduled for Aug. 4.

No Crime in Disagreement

It is an odds-on bet that a summer recess will straighten out some ideas about the investigating power of Congress. When Americans think twice about these things, they come up with the right answers.

It has been dawning on a great many citizens these last few months that even though congressional power to investigate is absolute and unlimited, it would not remain that way if it were abused.

It has been dawning on a great many congressmen that the way to preserve this important legislative privilege is to make certain it is not abused. No congressmen who thinks twice about the matter wants to see the investigative power put into a straitjacket of rules and regulations.

Clearest illustration of what needs to be avoided came out of the hearing which G. Bromley Oxnam, Methodist bishop, sought before the House Committee To Investigate un-American Activities.

Here was a voluntary witness seeking the right to clear his name and his high office in the church of the taint of Communism placed on it by careless use of the congressional power of investigation.

The views of Bishop Oxnam on a wide range of topics are no business of any organization of the government. The only thing in which a committee of Congress has any right to be interested is whether or not the bishop is or ever was an active member of the Communist conspiracy.

No one ever had made that accusation formally.

He never had been accused of disloyalty. He never had been under investigation in connection with a suspicion of disloyalty. Yet he was forced to carry on his work as a religionist under the slur of criticism of his behavior as a citizen who held views in disagreement with the views of certain other citizens.

These people came perilously close in the Oxnam case, as they have come in some other cases, to classifying as evidence of disloyalty the exercise of the inalienable right of Americans to disagree with one another.

27 Lives Lost Forever

Legal counsel may refer in the forthcoming age of jet propulsion to the controlling case of Mrs. Hawley's chickens — 27 of them dead of broken necks after a low-flying jet plane caused a stampede in the hen yard.

Their owner did what anyone else living near Alliance, O., would have been likely to do under the circumstances. She counted the damage and called the Akron-Canton Airport to find out who was going to pay for it.

It was pointed out to her she had erred in not getting the plane's number, because without that information she couldn't even lodge a firm complaint with any proper authority. That is where the case of Mrs. Hawley's chickens might become historic.

In the forthcoming age of jet propulsion, must we groundlings take down the license numbers of the planes which will cause countless stampedes among our livestock? Must whooshees defend their rights against whooshers without benefit of this recognition of human limitations?

Did the pilot of the jet plane that killed Mrs. Hawley's chickens get the number of the chickens?

Dog With Bad Name

President Eisenhower's appointment of three distinguished citizens to fill vacancies in the National Security Commission, together with his order for a new study of universal military training, will heat up an old issue.

This country has been arguing about universal military training since the end of World War I. It hasn't settled the issue.

No matter how much merit there may seem to be in universal training when viewed through the eyes of those thinking only of military security, there is no merit in it from the viewpoint of those thinking about the broad public welfare.

But neither is there any logic in the standoff that grows out of their diametrically opposed views. It has produced weakness, not strength. It has produced the inequities of an improvised arrangement whereby men who already have performed military service are expected to perform still more while men who have performed none are passed over. And it has produced during the Korean war the operation of a selective-service system which produces manpower on a basis that would be intolerable over a long pull of "peacetime" mobilization.

Universal military training has a bad name. But the problem which has made it a subject of controversy for a third of a century does not go away because it's ignored.

How can the United States obtain the manpower it needs for its military security in the years ahead without violating either the principle of equality of sacrifice or the necessity of training its young men in equally essential duties?

Avoidable Mistakes

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower in Need of Sound Political Advice

President Eisenhower's reply at his press conference to a question asking for an appraisal of his first six months in office has occasioned a variety of comments — some of them making the point that the President seemed on the defensive.

Mr. Eisenhower is not the type to blow his own horn, and yet he is well aware that people are impatient for certain fundamental changes in the Truman policies that have not yet been made.

There was something, therefore, modest and restrained in the President's evaulation of his first half-year.

Acutally he has made real progress in learning what the presidency is about.

Disinterested persons, irrespective of political affiliation, will concede not only that Mr. Eisenhower is as well liked as any President in a half century, but that there exists on almost every side a sincere wish to have him succeed.

Having paid tribute to Mr. Eisenhower's conscientiousness of purpose and fairness, as he understands the issues, one can still say that his first six months have recorded a number of negative developments for which misguided advisers have been largely responsible.

Every President is in a sense a puppet. He is pushed in one direction or the other by those with a prejudice in favor of this or that policy, and often the group pressures reach him and influence him when he least suspects them.

There are, however certain inexorable rules about politics in which sound advisers would have within six months indoctrinated Mr. Eisenhower. For example, it is politically a mistake to plunge headlong into any unnecessary controversy within one's own party — especially when it has such a narrow margin as a majority.

The Bohlen episode was hailed as a "victory," but it was a costly one. The fight against Rep. Reed on the excess-profits tax left wounds that will not soon be healed.

If the administration had let the House members vote as they wished on that issue, the Senate could have adjusted the measure in conference. As it is, the principle of "no change" in the tax laws now has been broken anyway by a bill that reduces taxes on movies which, it is conceded, will not reduce the admission price but will save many movie houses by letting them pocket the difference. It cuts $100,000,000 in tax revenue, too.

Also the vote on foreign aid in the house shows a growing hostility to the administration which is not exactly an accumulation of resentments but is an insistence on what most of the Republicans think is a Republican viewpoint in accord with campaign promises.

Worst of all was the President's ill-advised and unnecessary speech at Dartmouth on "book burning" — a reflection on his own Department of State — which was hailed with glee by Democrats but which has caused bad feeling in Republican ranks in Congress.

Next was Mr. Eisenhower's issuance of an unfortunately phrased telegram on the Matthews affair, which again was a superfluous act from a political viewpoint—an unnecessary manifestation of hostility toward a substantial number of Republicans in America who feel deeply on the subject of "left wing" penetration into our institutions.

The President told his press conference he has not been trying to create friction or indulge in personalities.

He has failed nevertheless to erase the impression on Capitol Hill that he has declared war on a large body of American citizens throughout the country who happen to think McCarthy's anti-Communist crusade has been necessary to alert other citizens on how readily the Communist conspiracy can dupe well-meaning clergymen, for instance, to say nothing of persons institutions like labor unions, the press, and the colleges.

Irrespective of the merits of these controversial subjects, the fact remains that after six months the Republican party is split badly and "harmony" is sadly missing in Congress, and it goes deeper than mere "differences of opinion."

It is all the more tragic because sound political advice could have prevented the break. Maybe the next six months will bring a reconciliation.

The President will learn with more experience that, while a battle with Republicans in Congress and the alienation of millions of Republican voters throughout the country may bring applause from Democrats and "left wingers" who never vote the Repuflican ticket anyhow, such tactics will not win more seats for the Republican party in Congress in 1954.

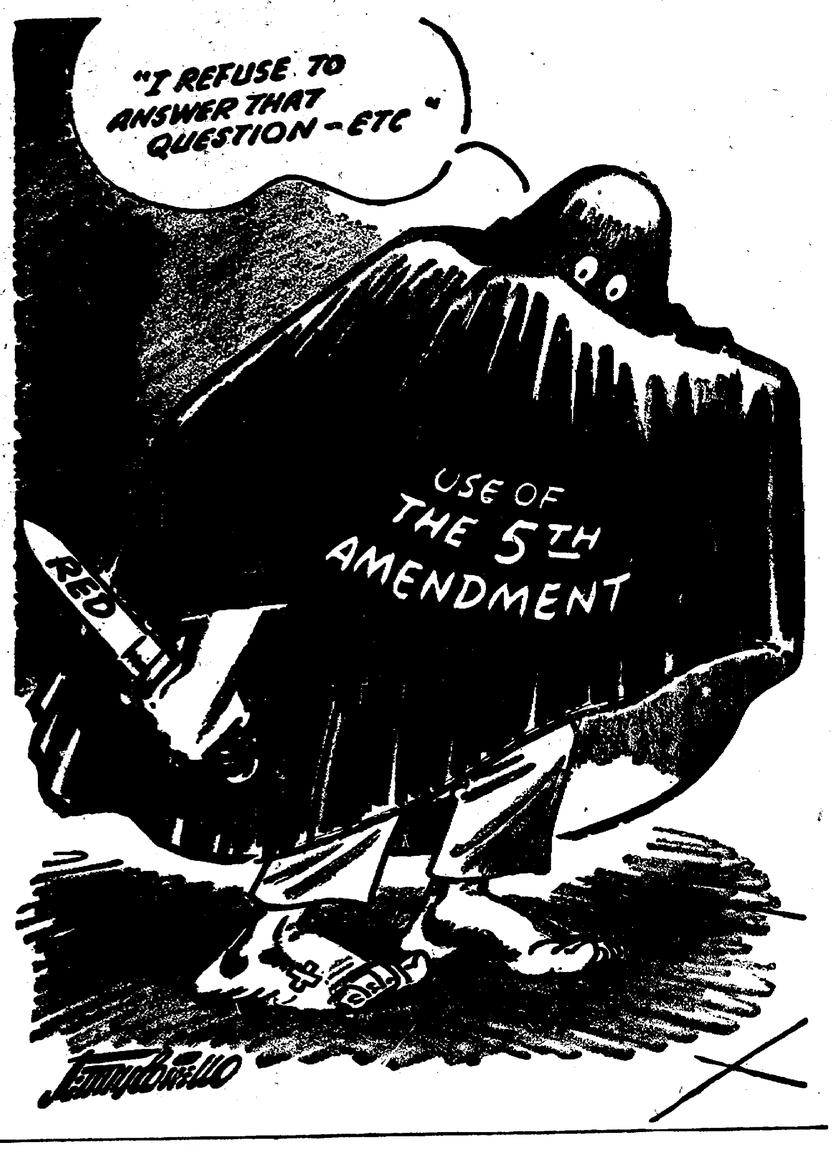
A Convenient Cloak



Oil for Federalized Education

By Raymond Moley

Socialism has something like the uncanny instinct of a cat in finding ways to get into the house through every opening carelessly left by the tenants.

For years Congress has indicated that it has no intention to permit the federal government to invade the field of state and local education. But it has opened a means to the same end by indirection.

The Senate did this in passing a bill for the federal control of oil and other properties on the continental shelf beyond the limits of state control fixed in the famous "Tidelands legislation" passed in May.

This continental - shelf legislation, which went to conference in late June and has at this writing not been sent to the President, should be vetoed not only because it is ambiguous but because, in at least the form passed by the Senate, it may well open the way to that federal control of education which Eisenhower has expressly disapproved many times.

In many ways this legislation is the most remarkable ever passed by Congress.

In deals with an indeterminate area of sea bottom beyond the limits of the jurisdiction of the states confirmed by the Tidelands Act.

It asserts the property rights of the federal government in the land at the bottom of the sea and the minerals and other things below that bottom.

It disclaims any sovereignty by the government of the United States on the surface of the water above such land. That water is the high seas and any effort to assert sovereignty there would lead to endless controversy.

The fish swimming in the water have international status but if they rest on the bottom they are the guests of the United States.

As the Senate committee indicated in its report, what federal laws are applicable in that strange new territory that we annex, what courts have jurisdiction? Should the laws of the abutting states be made applicable?

These questions have a very practical bearing for the time may well come in the exploitation of the minerals in that land when thousands of men will be working there.

The Senate bill resolved this by applying first the Constitution and federal law to the area and then by adopting as federal law the protective legislation of the abutting states such as legislation dealing with industrial accidents, fair labor standards and unemployment aid.

But the real argument came over the disposition of the future revenues to be derived from this property.

The sound suggestion of Sen. Daniel that such revenue be applied to the paying off of the national debt seems to have been lost.

That indefatigable proponent of federal aid to education, Sen. Hill popped up with the same idea that he vainly attempted to substitute for the Tidelands legislation.

His proposal was to put the revenues from the development of oil and other resources into a special account to be used exclusively as grants-in-aid of primary, secondary and higher education.

The Hill amendment would permit this account to be used for defense during the present emergency but after that for education. It puts a limit of three years on the emergency use of the funds. This is a silly limitation for not even Sen. Hill can know the course of international affairs.

The absurdity of the whole matter, a logical absurdity of course, for in terms of selfish politics it is very practical, is that no administrative formula or mechanism is proposed to distribute the money to the states. Nor is there any provision to determine what sort of education this money is to be used for.

It is an unlimited authorization of interminate funds for an unforeseen period.

Perhaps some reason can be incorporated in this unsound and messy legislation in conference. Reason seems to be at a premium during the hot weather now prevailing in Washington.

Ill-Advised Charity?

By MARK DANA

The manner and language used by Russia in denouncing the distribution of American low-cost foodstuffs in East Germany caused a lameness in a leg Russia had to stand on in her basic attitude.

Some two weeks ago, the U. S. Government offered to send large supplies of our surplus food material to East Germany, including East Berlin, under Russia's jurisdiction. Russia declined this offer, which was natural. The U. S. insisted, however, in sending $15 million worth of edible material to its own sector of Berlin, and selling it to East and West Germans at a nominal cost. Russia now has heatedly protested this.

In a sense, Russia has a case in calling this sudden and focused philanthropy strictly political. With all the world's hungry populations for choice, including allies and potential allies, for choice our Government by its original public offer and insistent carrying-out of that offer has obviously sought favor for the U. S. and disfavor for Russia among the East Germans.

We have intruded on the responsibilities and jurisdictions of another soverign power under the thin disguise of philanthropy. While blaming Russia for subversive activities, we have started one of our own. That is Russia's contention, and it has some substance.

We would be resentful if Russia should show similar transparent concern for the people of Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, our Southwest drought sufferers, our city slum dwellers, our convicts or residents in the U. S. Zone of West Germany.

We know only by hearsay the conditions among East Germans, and for all we can be sure the recent uprisings against the Russians in East Berlin and East Germany were started by anarchists or the Russians themselves. Washington has needlessly aggravated U. S.-Russian tension, at a time when a Korean truce edges nearer, by its ill-advised gesture of deliberate antagonism.

On the other hand, Russia went into a characteristic tailspin in her manner of protesting. The claim that the food distribution "continued the attempts of fascist hirelings and criminal element. . . to engage in further provocations" was preposterous. If black marketers re-sell the food at high prices to East Germans, this could have been obviated by Russian cooperation. Exaggeration and prevarication are so common with Russia that they spoiled a tenable reaction here.

Fort Morrow, located about three-quarters of a mile south of Waldo, was built by the early settlers of the county as a protection against sudden attack by the Indians. The fort contained two blockhouses, one at the southwest and one at the northeast corner of the enclosure, which contained about half an acre of land. One of the blockhouses was of round and the other of hewed logs. On top of the latter was painted "Fort Morrow. Built by Captain Taylor." The upper story of these blockhouses projected out about four feet all around over a basement six feet high. They had portholes and one cannon was kept at the fort.

Pisa Tower Popular

PISA, ITALY (AP) — The leaning tower of Pisa, which has been giving tourists criks in the neck for 600 years, is at the top of her tipsy glory these days. For reasons pleased Pisans don't entirely understand, their tilting tower is drawing the biggest crowds of sight-seers in her history. Visitors are jamming this city of 70,000 population so tightly it's hard to find a place to park a car. Some drivers, intent on a view of the tower, park near the city outskirts and return to the center by horse-drawn carriage. "Nothing like this has ever happened before," announced the Pisa tourist office, rubbing its hands.

Silver Report

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — About 89 per cent of the nation's quicksilver, or nearly 2 2-3 million flasks valued at approximately 150 million dollars, had been mined in California up to 1953. Almost all of the quicksilver mines are in the Coast ranges between Lake County and Santa Barbara County.

Something Snapped

By TRUMAN TWILL

This may be the first tribute ever paid publicly to the snap bean, now available in the fresh-picked verson. A bumper crop is with us. It is all about us.

Snap beans are the one garden crop any lame-brain can raise without fail. And because the horticulturists finally have licked the problem of stringiness that formerly floored its friends, the snap bean can be raised with complete satisfaction.

Even the problem of bean beetles has been solved by science. These pests can be kept at a safe distance with an occasional application of an otherwise harmless powder. But to get on with the tribute to snap beans—

Some like them boiled until tender and served steaming hot with an overlay of melted butter.

Some like them creamed lightly and heaped chin high on a plate with mashed potatoes.

Some prefer them boiled with ham hocks and new potatoes, with a suspicion of onion.

Some think they're best with boiled bacon and wet down with their own priceless bean licker, salted and peppered to taste.

And some of us who know what's best like the snap bean best as midnight approaches, taken furtively out of a covered dish in the refrigerator, where they stored as leftovers, and forked up in little stacks of tender, green goodness—cold as late August dew and packed with nutty goodness.

It is this lack of suitable similes which accounts for the absence of tributes to the snap bean.

But everything that pumpkin pie, cherry pie, the roasting ear and the flapjack are said to be the snap bean becomes at the height of the bean season.

Men, women and children are happier. The world is happier. It must not be dismissed as coincidence that the prospect of a truce in Korea has brightened each year when snap beans were in season.

There are symbols that men live by — slogans, hopes, fears, satisfactions, gratifications etc. For some of us who keep trying to get closer to nature, seeking in its proximity the essence of more abundant living, nothing of its kind packs more meaning than snap beans ready to serve, with enough left over for midnight snacking.

Here is ample reward for all the grim and gritty chores of gardening — the battles with bugs, weeds, drouth and flood. If we could have our way, we would make the world eat snap beans until filled to the teeth. If the snap beans don't quit snapping this year, it may come to that.

There was this fellow who sidled up to us and asked softly, "How'd you like a half bushel of snap beans, Bud?"

Something snapped. It wasn't beans.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Sidelight on U.N.

(A Senate committee has found that many members of the United Nations have been carrying on a profitable trade with Red China ever since the war began, and that it is not only flourishing today but on the increase. It describes it as "the shocking policy of fighting an enemy on one hand and doing business with him on the other.")

Through glistening halls the statesmen swarm
To meetings by the socre-
On fighting communism, while
They help it win the war!
Their noble words ring through the day,
But while their soldiers die
There's trading with the enemy
For profits swift and high.

II

Their votes sent young men into war—
Thier speeches they were long—
But ships of theirs plow through the seas
To keep the Commies strong;
The GI's die on bloody hills
To keep the faith the while
The enemy is strengthened by
A hunt for profits vile.

III

What kind of men send lads to die
Upon some barren peak
While they go over books and ask,
"What did we make this week?"
Oh, point them out, and one by one,
For all the world to see
The traders with the killers of
The boys who keep us free!

IV

There's slaughter on Korean slopes,
Yet U.N. members know
It's "Business, boys, as usual!"
With ethics extra low;
Oh, speakers garrulous and shrill,
Pause — just to catch your breath —
And ask, "Is this a temple or
A Bargain House of Death?"

-:-

Apropos of the above, the Senate committee declares that more than $2 billion worth of strategic stuff has been sold to the Chinese Reds by our side since the war began and that the trading is higher today than ever, and on the increase!

Despite the shock over the committee's report, the facts have been available for years to anybody who bothered to look into the published trade reports of our Allies.

This is the cold hard fact: While Uncle Sam, bearing the brunt of the fighting, has a tight ban on every item that could help the enemy kill his sons, our Allies have refused to go along with us in holding that rubber, oil, sheet steel, various other metals and all antibiotics are of tremendous aid to the foe. Yet every barrel of oil, every ton of rubber withheld from the Reds lowers their fighting power.

The nations which pour in penicillin and other antibiotics simply help get sick and wounded killers of our men back into action again . . . How crazy can we get?

Yeah, bub, the delegates to U.N. don't do the trading and there are limits to what they can do, but an all-out determination to stop the double cross would be a big help in stopping it.

She Competes With the Stork

NEW YORK (INS) — Slender, brunette Rita Guertler claims to have a job that puts her in competition with the stork.

She delivers babies — literally. Rita's job is to pick up a baby in one country and deposit him in the arms of his parents in another country.

It's a job, says Rita, that lets her see a lot of babies—and a lot of the world, too.

The 22-year-old New York girl works for Pan American World Airways as a "deluxe baby sitter." She's on the job whenever parents, separated by business or other reasons from their children, want a tiny tot escorted across the ocean. Then Rita hops a Clipper across the Atlantic, picks up the baby, and operates as an airborne sitter until the child is delivered to his parents.

Rita got the job because she speaks five languages and because she's "good with babies." Most of her tiny charges don't say anything beyond "goo," but the language proficiency is necessary in Europe.

COMA MOTHER VIEWS BABY. Mrs. Janice Cubbedge, 16, who was injured in an auto accident last January and has been in a coma ever since, views her baby, Charles, six days old, in the hospital nursery at Miami, Fla. Her husband, Ronald, 16, still wears the brace on his neck as a result of the accident as he stands behind her. The nurse is Mrs. Lois Lembo.

Homemade Armored Car Fools Czech Guards; 8 Flee to Safety

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—A homemade armored car, so cleverly built that it fooled Czech border guards, crashed through the Iron Curtain today bringing eight people to safety in the West.

Bavarian border police said a 31-year-old Czech mechanic, his wife and their two small children, a civilian man and woman and two soldiers, roared across to freedom near Wald-Muenchen in Southern Bavaria. They asked asylum.

They first reported the vehicle to be a tank, but said later it was a beautifully-built armored car with tank treads, so well done that they had assumed it was a Czech Army tank.

It was decked with foliage as camouflage and as it rammed through the barbed wire barried near Wald-Muenchen, a Czech Army patrol, heavily armed, watched it open-mouthed. They apparently believed it a Czech armored reconnaissance car and held their fire.

A border policeman who talked with the group shortly after the eight escaped from their Communist-dominated homeland, said the young mechanic, a native of Pilsen, told this story:

Two years ago he decided to flee, a conviction which solidified when his machine shop was confiscated and he was forced to operate it for the Communist state.

Painfully, week after week and month after month, he collected pieces of scrap iron and steel. Secretly and at night, he slowly built the armored car which was to bring him to freedom. After 24 months of labor the vehicle was ready, built as closely along Czech Army lines as possible. He fitted it with tank treads.

The two soldiers and the two civilians were friends of his and they planned with him.

API Revises Advice on Auto Oil Change

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — The American Petroleum Institute's marketing division, which long has recommended that automobile owners change their oil every 1,000 miles, has revised its stand somewhat.

Now the API recommends intervals varying from every 500 miles to every 2,000 miles, depending on the type of driving.

Its three classifications are "city and suburban driving," for which it still recommends a change every 1,000 miles; "dusty or cold weather driving," for which it recommends an oil change every 500 miles, and "open highway driving," for which it recommends changing each 2,000 miles.

The recommendation of the marketing division's lubrication committee defines the three types this way:

City and suburban driving — "This represents the ordinary use of the family car or light truck mainly on short run, start and stop service on paved roads under moderate air temperatures. It also includes some long distance travel at normal speeds. It has been determined that at least two-thirds of passenger car driving is under these conditions."

Dusty or cold weather driving—"Vehicle operation in freezing or sub-freezing weather, especially in start and stop driving with much engine idling, is one form of severe or adverse service. The hours that the engine operates or idles rather than the miles that the car is driven is the important factor affecting oil contamination. Crankcases should be drained after not more than 60 days or 500 miles of travel. In extreme cases, more frequent drining may be necessary. Consistent driving over dusty roads is another adverse condition. Drain at 500 miles or more often depending upon the severity of the dust conditions. For example, if a vehicle is driven through a dust storm, then oil should be drained as soon as possible. Air cleaners should be serviced when the oil is changed."

Open highway driving — "The most favorable driving condition is essentially open highway, intercity travel on paved, dust-free roads with little or no engine idling. In such service, the engine operates at efficient temperatures with good fuel combustion. Using high quality oils, there is little or no oxidation and resultant deposit formation. Design details, such as large crankcase capacities, are also favorable factors."

Farm Accident Near Sycamore Injures Man

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE — Meric Curlis, 28, was injured on his farm south of Sycamore Friday afternoon when a combine machine ran over him.

He was making repairs on his combine and told his cousin Wayne Curlis to start the motor. The gears, which had been locked in a neutral position most of the afternoon slipped, and the rear end of the machine ran over Curlis' body.

Doctors reported he was in fair condition this morning at Mercy Hospital in Tiffin where he was taken by an E. W. Moore ambulance after the accident. The doctors said the fact that the combine was of the type which had two wheels on each side in the rear saved his life. The weight of the machine was divided over his body and was not pressed into one area.

After the accident, Curlis was helped to his home by his cousin and a neighbor, Donald Walton. Another neighbor, Paul Gregg finished combining the oats on which Curlis had been working before the accident.

X-rays taken at the hospital revealed no broken bones. Tests will be taken to determine if there were any internal injuries sustained by the victim. Curlis is married and has two small children.

Louisville Orchestra Sets Five New Works

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — The Louisville Orchestra has commissioned four American composers and one French composer to furnish new works for concerts during the 1953-54 season.

Composers receiving commissions included Jacques Ibert, Roy Harris, Peter Mennin, Bernard Rogers and Quincy Porter. Both Mennin and Harris were scheduled to have new works performed by the orchestra last season but asked that premieres of their compositions be delayed until this season.

Ibert, a Frenchman, is best known to American audiences for his orchestra piece "Escales." He is director of the French Academy in Rome.

More and more these days your cancelled check takes the place of a receipted bill as evidence of payment. But sometimes a cancelled check is lost or mislaid or burned or perhaps willfully destroyed just when you need it most to prove a disputed item.

In such cases the "RECORDAK" service of The Marion County Bank may save you considerable annoyance and perhaps an actual loss.

This service is not new — we have provided it for several years.

It seems an opportune time to remind our customers we photograph each check passing through our hands. This is true of both checks drawn on us and checks drawn on other banks and deposited or cashed at The Marion County Bank. The resulting film provides for our customers a permanent record against fraud, forgery, dishonesty, carelessness.

If an original cancelled check is lost, mislaid, burned or willfully destroyed — it can be reproduced on the "RECORDAK" screen, for inspection . . . or an actual photographic print can be made.

Cooperative Plans Meeting To Study New Mill Problem

About 1,500 stockholders of the Marion County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association have been asked to attend a meeting next Wednesday night at Pleasant School to decide what course of action should be taken for rebuilding the mill on Park Blvd. which was destroyed by fire June 26.

The main question the stockholders will decide Wednesday is whether to rebuild on the old site or to move to the seven-acre plot of land owned by the group on Bellefontaine Ave.

An arrangement was made earlier with the Central Soya Co. for emergency storage space enabling the cooperative association to complete purchases of wheat this year. Wrecking of the destroyed mill is now in progress and a grinding and mixing mill in New Bloomington was leased for doing the work normally performed by the Park Blvd. plant.

The directors plan to give figures to the stockholders that would show the comparative differences between staying at the present location and building on Bellefontaine Ave. They stress that this is one of the most important decisions to be made by the stockholders in the 19 years of the accociation's existence.

Highway Casualties Far Surpass Those of War

The casualty list for 1952—96,000 killed and 9,600,000 injured!

That isn't the Korean war toll. It's the nation's accident totals for last year announced by the National Safety Council.

"Accident Facts," the Council's statistical yearbook, shows that one person was injured accidentally every three seconds during 1952. Deaths from accidents occurred at the rate of one every five minutes.

During the year, motor vehicle accidents killed at the rate of four persons per hour and injured at a rate of 150 per hour.

Several species of ants keep aphids to produce a sweet liquid for them, much as men keep cows.

Patrol Lists 5 Accidents, 12 Arrested

Upper Sandusky Woman Suffers Slight Knee Injury

Five accidents and twelve arrests Friday were reported today by the state highway patrol.

No one was injured and minor damage resulted to the vehicles when an automobile and a bakery truck collided at the intersection of Routes 598 and 96 in Crawford County at 3:55 p. m.

James A. Zehner, 22, of near Mansfield, driver of the truck, was arrested for failing to signal before making a left turn, and was to appear this afternoon before Mayor Lee of Crestline. He was making a left turn from Route 598 onto Route 96 when the truck and an automobile driven by Kenneth P. Pfahler, 21, of Galion, collided. Pfahler was going south on Route 598, patrolmen said.

Elizabeth A. Keyser, 35, of Maumee, was fined $15 and costs by Judge W. Dexter Hazen in Marion Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of following too closely. Patrolmen reported that the automobile she was driving struck a vehicle operated by Stanley Lisiecki, 35, of Warren, Mich. The accident occurred at 4:20 p.m. about three miles south of Marion on Route 23.

Kenneth Ellington, 24, of 267 Niles St., was to appear this morning in Municipal Court on a charge of driving without an operator's license. He was arrested after he lost control of the automobile and it went off the road at 6 p.m. on county road 95 near the Baker Wood Preserving Co.

Margaret Osborn, 30, of near Upper Sandusky, was treated at the Richwood Clinic for a lacerated right knee sustained when the automobile she was driving went off the road and struck two trees on Route 4 about half a mile south of Route 37 at 10 p.m. Patrolmen reported extensive damage to her car.

A car driven by Stella Vandall, 33, of Charleston, W. Va., and a truck driven by Herbert Weininger, 24, of near Sycamore, sideswiped on Route 23 about three miles south of Upper Sandusky at 2 p.m. Minor damage was caused to the truck, and extensive damage resulted to the automobile, patrolmen said. The woman was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Koehler of Upper Sandusky on a charge of driving to the left of center.

STARS HELP CANCER VICTIM. Robin Morgan, "Dagmar" in the TV program "Mama" and Gloria DeHaven (right), famous actress, pose for a "birthday" picture with Evah Conley, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodward Conley, who is gravely ill with cancer. Her actual birthday is in September, but a neighbor's daughter "loaned" her a birthday as an excuse for the party which brought out Broadway players, a host of presents, and scores of neighbors in Washington, D.C. The mother's appearance on the TV show "Strike It Rich" brought the case to public notice.

By JOHN CROSBY

Beauty Specialist

Easily one of the most confident voices on the air is that of Richard Willis who, rushing in where most males would fear to tread, advises women on what to do with their faces, their hair, their clothes on a program called "Here's Looking at You."

J. CROSBY.

It is Willis' theory that no two females are exactly alike, a theiry with which I can't publicly quarrel (though privately. . . well, never mind), and that he alone, I gather, has the key to their individual beauty problems. Women from the studio audience are brought before Willis, presented to him more or less as you would be presented to an ambassador and then counselled on their hairlines, their fingernails and other intimate matters of personal—I believe the phrase is—daintiness.

-:-

"SIT DOWN, dear," he will say. "What's your name, dear?" It doesn't really matter what their names are: he calls them all "dear" anyhow. Then comes the problem.

"My nose has a tendency to shine. What should I do?"

Willis shrugged eloquently: "I wish I knew!" Then he gave a little dissertation on the fact that some parts of the face were oilier than others, "especially the schnozzola," advised her to use a very lightweight powder, and then leaped determinedly upon her hair.

"We don't need this bang at all," he said incisively and promptly picked up a comb and combed it away, meanwhile discoursing on her private life.

"Have you met a Texan yet?" This girl went to Texas to school. "Well, shut my mouth! You're not running anything, are you, dear—so near to the border?" Then back to the beauty problems. "That center part does absolutely nothing for you!" And he eliminated it.

Eventually, the lass—now pretty thoroughly revised—was sent on her way, loaded with little presents from the sponsors of which he has quite a few and Willis paused a moment to sell a little "new, ready-to-serve treat."

"WELL NOW," he said presently, a favorite expression of his, and introduced us to his guests—two nurses and a psychical therapist. One of the nurses confessed to a wild craving for earrings. Should she wear large ones or small ones.

"I can't think of anyone who would look better in earrings, dear" said Willis briskly. "Any type of earrings. I'd love to be a patient of yours, dear. What did you say the name of your hospital was again? Memorial? Write that down someone. I'll keep it in mind for my next fainting spell."

Whereupon he turned his attention to a student nurse who told him she planned, on graduation, to work in a surgeon's office.

"It'll be dull, dear," he said gravely. "After a hospital it'll be dull. A hospital has so many rooms. You can open any door, and, if it's dull inside, just go to the next one." And he advised her to wear wide-brimmed hats because they would be more "dramatic" on her.

-:-

WILLIS CAN be real severe with girls if he feels they're letting themselves go. One stoutish blonde who pressed him for the solution to her makeup woes was told firmly that her immediate problem was not makeup but weight. "You've got to lose some weight, dear. How old are you? Twenty-nine? Well, you'll look 35 if you keep this up. Why do you weigh so much?"

"Because I like to eat," said the blonde defensively. "I eat all the time. I eat between meals."

"Well, don't," said Willis severely. "You don't have to eat everything in the icebox. Stop it." And he leaped upon her hair which runs to the verdant side, got a large wad of back hair in his hands and advised her — virtually commanded her—to cut it all off.

I doubt that any beauty problem —even two heads—would faze Willis for an instant. He is never at a loss for a solution and he rattles each one off with such complete self-assurance that it would be a bold woman indeed who could ignore them. He's been at it for quite a spell. Since 1939 he has been passing out beauty hints on the radio and for 12 years before that he was a beauty consultant at Warner Brothers.

Tower of Marion Area Scouts Second Tallest at Jamboree

The Boy Scouts and their leaders from the Marion area had plenty of activities to keep them occupied at the National Jamboree held this week in Santa Ana, Calif.

According to a letter received by The Star from Paul Rinnert, Scribe of The Harding Area Council troup, the boys had their work cut out for them on Monday as they put up a 41 foot, 10 inch tower. The tower, which is constructed of Ohio Ash was shipped along with the rest of the equipment for the group. It is held together entirely by lashings.

The tower was completed at noon and christened Mt. White in honor of Scoutmaster Eugene White who had to cancel plans for the trip because of pressing business obligations. Quenton Moody, Scout leader from Cardington, christened the tower with a bucket of water. The structure erected by the Marion Scouts was the second tallest in the entire encampment. The flag of the Harding Area Council was placed on top of the tower.

Monday afternoon the Scouts saw an air show presented by the Marine and Navy fliers. Marine helicopters flew in formation over the encampment while other planes flew overhead. Then the Blue Angels, precision flying unit of the Navy put on an exhibition with dives and rolls in close formation.

Monday also saw the first case calling for first-aid. Jim Haserodt picked up a cactus with his bare hand and had to have the needles removed.

Tuesday the Scouts received "Hollywood's Tribute To Scouting." A rodeo was presented in the afternoon by a number of famous western stars. In the evening many different acts were presented by such stars as Bob Hope, Debbie Reynolds, Ann Francis, Will Rogers Jr., Jane Powell, Johnny Mac Brown, George Montgomery, and others.

The show lasted more than two hours. The "Voices of Victory" Choir, the Sixth Army Kiltie Band, and the Los Angeles Motorcycle Drill Corps were also among the acts which kept the Scouts entertained. The show was finished with a 20 minute fireworks display.

Jack Winters, Gary Stephens, and Paul Rinnert worked part of Tuesday as service Scouts for the section headquarters. Wednesday, the same task was given to Bob Richardson, Jim Haserodt, Jerry Gundrum, Phil Conaway, Max Carroll, and Chauncey Lake.

The Jamboree closed this week. The Harding Area Scouts are due back July 30.

Williams May Make Bosox Strong Flag Contender

Umphlett Hits Homer; O-I Grad Beats Yanks

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Ted Williams can find the fountain of youth, the Boston Red Sox may yet have to be considered as pennant contenders in the American League.

Certainly the Williams-less Sox are burning up the circuit and, with the New York Yankees continuing to slip, they've moved into third place, only 7½ games behind the stumbling New Yorkers.

Williams comes out of the Marines Aug. 1 and he will be back with his old club shortly after that. In his absence a bunch of youngsters, many of whom were still in grade school when the slugger first donned a Red Sox uniform in 1939, have caught fire.

Since the Fourth of July they've played at an .800 pace. Last night they took a pair from the hapless St. Louis Browns, 8-0 and 6-0, for their 14th and 15th victories in their last 18 games.

The league-leading Yankees have looked mighty sad recently and they couldn't do a thing against lefty Billy Hoeft in Detroit last night as they lost their fourth straight, 5-1. Hoeft gave up only three hits and struck out eight.

For the second time this week the second place Chicago White Sox blew a chance to gain ground on the Yankees. Philadelphia caught the Chicagoans in the ninth inning and went on to beat them, 4-2, in 12 frames when Cass Michaels hit a 2-run homer.

Cleveland dropped from third to fourth, eight games behind New York, by losing to Washington, 6-4.

In the National League the Milwaukee Braves slapped down the first place Brooklyn Dodgers 11-6, cutting the Dodgers lead to 4½ games. Philadelphia edged St. Louis 2-1 on two homers by Granny Hamner. New York defeated Cincinnati, 3-1, and Chicago thumped Pittsburgh 7-1.

Billy Henry and Maury McDermott handcuffed the Browns for Boston in the twi-night affair at St. Louis. Henry gave up seven hits in winning his second game since being recalled from the minors. Tom Umphlett slammed a 3-run homer in the first game, one of the three hit in the five American League games last night.

The other two circuit blows were the big one by Michaels that broke up the marathon in Chicago and a 3-run blast by big Walt Dropo that gave the Tigers a lead they never relinquished against New York.

Michaels also contributed a single to a ninth inning Philadelphia rally that tied the game in Chicago. Three other singles and an error produced two runs. The White Sox loaded the bases in the 11th but ancient Bobo Newsom came in to retire the side and stayed through the 12th to win his first game of the season. Billy Pierce, who struck out 12 men, suffered his seventh loss. Pierce has 109 strikeouts for the year, tops in the league.

After Dropo's home run Detroit added one tally in the sixth on a double by Johnny Pesky plus a sacrifice and Jim Delsing's single. Singles by Delsing and Ray Boone put runners on base in the eighth and one man came home on a passed ball and throwing error by

TOM UMPHLETT

Yogi Berra. The Yanks got their run in the seventh on singles by Berra and Hank Bauer and an infield out. The only other New ork hit was a double by Bauer.

Milwaukee poured it on the Dodgers, running the score to 11-1 before the league leaders made a 4-run stand in the eighth. Eddie Mathews hit his 30th home run with one on in the fifth and Walker Cooper homered with two on in the same inning when the Braves scored seven runs—the most any club has scored in an inning against Brooklyn this year.

The Cards-Phillies contest was a real battle with Harvey Haddix of the Cards making the mistake of giving Hamner two good pitches. Granny parked one in the second inning and again in the last of the ninth. The St. Louis run was scored in the sixth when Stan Musial walked, moved up on an error and a wild pitch and then stole home. The Phils now trail Brooklyn by 6½ games.

Ralph Kiner led a 9-hit Chicago attack against his old Pittsburgh teammates with three singles. Six of the Cubs' seven runs came in the third inning on only two hits. They were aided by an error, four walks, a wild pitch, a passed ball and two sacrifices.

Softball Action Scheduled Sunday

A softball doubleheader, and a possible triple-header, is carded at Garfield Park Sunday night.

K & W Plumbers of Marion, currently tied for second spot in the Commercial League, will take on Sons of Herman from Mansfield at 7:30 p.m. Playing for the visitors is Ronnie Hunt, who pitched a no-hitter in the district tournament here in 1951.

Smitty's All-Stars, with a 9-1 season mark, will oppose the Linden Merchants at 8:45 p.m. in a tilt originally scheduled last Sunday but rained out. Smitty's All-Stars are first round champs in the Commercial League and defending city champs. The visitors are also first round champs in their circuit, the Linden Independent League at Columbus.

Tentative plans call for a girls game to open the program at 6:15 p.m.

Angler Hits Jackpot, Brings in 'Big One'

A 50-year-old Wyandot man was mighty proud of his first big catch made this week on a fishing trip to Ranch Lake near Howard City, Mich.

Owen Evans, a mechanic at the Marion Power Shovel Co., pulled in a 23-pound pike from the small lake Tuesday morning. It measured 44½ inches. He was casting with a rod and reel, using a plug, in shallow water close to shore when he hooked the fish from a rowboat.

He also caught a 12-pound pike and a five and one-half pound pike the next day. His wife accompanied him on his trip to Michigan.

TRIES HAND AT RUGBY

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Johnny Pont, All-Ohio halfback in 1949, 1950 and 1951 is trying for the position of defensive back with the professional Toronto Argonauts of the Ontario Rugby Football League, friends at his alma mater, Miami University, report.

While top dogs Indianapolis and Toledo were getting their knocks in the twin cities, Louisville's Colonels moved up as a prime American Association contender last night.

The Colonels shut out Columbus twice, 4-0 and 3-0. Bill Werle pitched a two-hitter to win the opener and Bill Kennedy hurled a three-hitter to take the second game.

Meantime, league - leading Indianapolis was being beaten 2-1 by St. Paul and Toledo was losing 9-5 to Minneapolis.

Kansas City and Charleston split a doubleheader. The Blues won the opener 4-3 and then lost the second game by an identical score.

Redlegs Held To Three Hits, Bow To Giants

Rookie Hurler Wins Second From Cincy; Kluszewski Homers

NEW YORK (AP) Ruben Gomez is a slender Puerto Rican with a screwball and an Indian sign. The Indian sign is reserved for Cincinnati.

Gomez has pitched against the Redlegs twice. The first time he won, 4-1. The second time was at the Polo Grounds last night. Again he led the New Yorkers to victory this time by a 3-1 score.

Gomez allowed only three hits, the only damaging one being Ted Kluszewski's 29th home run in the fourth inning.

Hard-luck Bud Podbielan, who has been pitching some fine ball recently and who lost a three-hitter to Philadelphia just 10 days ago, was plastered with his 11th defeat against five victories, although yielding only seven hits.

The rookie righthander drove in the Giants' first run in the third inning. Daryl Spencer opened with a single and Wes Westrum walked. The Cincinnati infield pulled in, looking for a sacrifice, but Gomez surprised with a single to score Spencer.

After Kluszewski's homer in the fourth tied the score, the Giants went ahead on Hank Thompson's homer, his 19th.

Reliever Frank Smith gave up the final New York run after Podbielan was yanked for a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Spencer drove the ball into the leftfield stands in the seventh for his 15th four-bagger.

In today's game, it will be Redleg rookie Fred Baczewski against New York rookie Alan Worthington.

Hilliards Ends Tonight With $2,000 Event

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Flashy Heir and Lady Williard finished in a dead heat to win the first race at Hilliards last night. They were clocked at 2:31 2-5.

The track winds up its meet tonight with a $2,000 free-for-all pace.

Stewart Retains One-Stroke Lead

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Earl Stewart Jr., thanked a "nice week of rest" for his one stroke lead as the third round got underway today in the $17,500 Kansas City Open golf tournament.

The red-haired shooter from Dallas, Tex., took a vacation from the tournament grind last week, passing up the St. Paul Open. The rest paid off with rounds of 66 and 67 for a 133 total after 36 holes.

Ed (Porky) Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif., was only one stroke off the pace at 134, 10 under par for the 6,500-yard Milburn Country Club course. The popular Porky fired a 69 for a halfway score of 134 yesterday.

Two strokes off Stewart's lead were Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill, the 1950 champion here; Fred Haas Jr., of New Orleans, and Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., all with 135s.

Yesterday's STARS

'FIRE' TRUCKS GETS RUBDOWN. Virgil "Fire" Trucks, ace hurler for the Chicago White Sox, gets a rubdown from Sox Trainer Eddie Froelich, in a dressing room at Comiskey Park in Chicago. Trucks, who has won 12 and lost 4 this season, gives much of the credit for the good showing to Froelich. Virgil says the trainer cautions him to pace himself before the start of every game. Trucks, in his latest outing against the Boston Red Sox, gave up only four hits and permitted only one runner to venture past first base to win his 12th game with a 1-0 count.

Three other Marion drivers competed. They were Bill Collier, who won second in one of the heat races, Roy Hobson and Don Stevens. With the exception of Krohmer the men are expected to have their cars running at the Marion Speedway Sunday.

Time trials for Sunday's races will begin at 6:30, with the first race scheduled at 8 p.m.

Lopez Uses 21 Players

Senators Break Tribe Win Streak at Three

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians called on Bob Lemon to put them back on the victory road today after almost breaking two records before going down to bitter defeat.

Fresh from three sharp triumphs over the New York Yankees, the Tribesmen dropped a 6-4 decision to the Washington Senators last night and skidded back to fourth place.

Manager Al Lopez used almost his entire squad, 21 of 26 players, and only two short of the American League record, in a desperate attempt to stop the Nats.

The hard-fought match consumed 3 hours and 22 minutes, just 16 minutes from the record.

Lopez wasn't around when the game ended. Umpire Ed Rommel banished him in the ninth for protesting too vigorously on Gil Coan's catch of a drive by outfielder Dale Mitchell.

Bobby Avila had singled to open the Tribe's half of the frame when Mitchell smashed what appeared to be a base hit to left. Coan dove, turned a somersault and then came up with the ball after laying on the ground for a few moments.

Umpire Charley Berry ruled it a fair catch, but Lopez and other members of the Wigwam shouted that Coan dropped the ball and then picked it up while his back was to the infield.

"The ball slid at least a foot away from him and he picked it up with his bare hand," Tribe Coach Mel Harder, who was in the bullpen near the play, insisted.

"We all saw it that way," he added. . . . The people in the bleachers were hollering about it. It was plain as day from where we were."

The Nats, who scored half their runs off Mickey Vernon's Triple and double, took the lead in the opening inning and were never headed.

Art Houtteman, Bob Hooper, Dave Hoskins, Bill Wight, Lou Brissie and even Mike Garcia, who hurled only Wednesday night, all paraded to the Cleveland mound in the vain effort to come up with a victory.

Girls' Double Bill Postponed Again

A girls' softball benefit doubleheader scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the Engineer Depot field has been postponed. The game was to have sent Motor Products, first round champions, against a Delaware girls team with two all-star teams from the Marion Girls' Softball League meeting in the other tilt.

Jim O'Brien, secretary of the league, said the event had been postponed because the Delaware team was unable to make the trip. He said no date had been set for the games.

The benefit twinbill orginally was scheduled for June 28 but rain washed out the event after four innings of the opener.

Much of Increase Goes for Schools

Cost of Running States Reaches Record High

CHICAGO (AP)—Your tax dollar may not go so far in state capitals these days, but it will go pretty fast.

States are spending money at a record clip.

Appropriations were made by legislatures in 44 states in the legislative season now at a virtual end. A survey by The Associated Press showed:

There were definite reductions in only four states.

Appropriations followed a rising trend in most of the other states, and reached new record highs in 32 of them.

The sums added up to one billion dollars or more in five states:

California had $1,280,000,000 and New York showed $1,088,946,000 for 1-year periods. Illinois $1,591,320,000; Texas $1,000,000,000; and Pennsylvania approximately $1,400,000,000 for 2-year$ periods.

New York's total was $19,906,610 under the record set last year.

The Massachusetts total was $8,000,000 lower than in 1952, and it was the first slash in more than a dozen years.

Montana's general fund appropriations were cut about $2,500,000, and they were down slightly in Utah.

The states use the money to pay their bills, pay employes, finance welfare programs, build roads, schools and mental hospitals and for other purposes itemized at length in budgets.

Notes from AP capital correspondents indicated the bumper crop of youngsters now growing up are big beneficiaries. The notes included these comments:

From Florida: "Most of the increase was for education." From Minnesota: "More generous school aid main item of increase." From South Carolina: "Ninety per cent of increase was for education."

In 1951, the latest year for which complete figures are available, the 48 states spent $13,000,000,000, and their revenues totaled $12,406,000,000.

With income and outgo that close, the making of spending plans is a task that has become increasingly serious.

In that spirit, or another, six state legislators introduced this resolution in the Tennessee House of Representatives:

"Whereas the bonded indebtedness of the State of Tennessee has reached an all-time high and that taxes have now reached the saturation point,

"Therefore, be it resolved that the speaker appoint a committee to arrange a meeting with Chief Standing Deer of the Cherokee Indian Nation, with authority to repeal the Treaty of Tellico Plains and thereby restore to said Indian Nation that portion of land south of the Ohio River known as the State of Tennessee."

Frazier Mfg. Plant To Close in August

H. P. Frazier, plant manager of the Frazier Manufacturing Co. at 136-142 S. Prospect St., announced today that the local plant would close some time in August.

The Marion plant, a subsidiary of the Plastic Film Products Corporation of Akron, has been operating since 1946 and has employed about 40 persons in the manufacture of plastic products.

Operation will be consolidated with the main plant in Akron, Frazier said.

Letters From Our Readers

STREET PAINTING RISKS

Editor of he Star: I just finished reading the letter written by Mr. Margwarth and would like to ask him the following questions?

Would you care to walk the middle of the streets after midnight with a paint machine and keep your eyes on a thin blue line, (all the lines have to be chalked with blue chalk) and not be able to watch out for oncoming cars?

Then again will you give your idea as to lighting on the painter? With no lights on anything that travels on any road or highway after sundown is unlawful according to the laws of this state.

Then again, tell us how you would do the streets in the outlying districts of the city where you only have a street light every block or more apart?

Sure, I know as does every one else, that the painting of streets causes a few parking spaces to be closed for a while, but not too long after it is time for the stores to be opened, and then there is only 40 to 48 spaces closed at a time.

As to the safety part of your suggestion, anyone knows that visibility at night is worse than daylight. You have the lights of oncoming cars, the late tavern patrons and heavy truck traffic to watch for.

You stated that a person crossing the street at an intersection where there is a traffic light is given little regard by the motorist. Yet you want to put two men out in the middle of the street after dark with no light and no other protection to do this job of painting that takes an average of 6 months to do, and then sometimes falls short of being completed.

I'm sure willing to try out your scheme of action Mr. Margwarth if you will come out and walk the middle with us.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Officers today tried to identify a man who killed himself in George Rogers Clark State Park yesterday with a gun he had taken from a deputy sheriff.

Gestapo Boss Ousted; Was Pal of Beria

But Wilhelm Zaisser May Come Back as Head of German Army

BERLIN (AP)—Mystery surrounded the ouster of Red Gestapo Boss Wilhelm Zaisser today. Rumors he is under secret arrest in East Berlin, victim of a "Beria purge" were offset by reports he would come back to head both army and police.

The bull-faced German — the "General Gomez" of Spanish Civil War fame—was suddenly replaced as chief of state security by Ernest Wollweber and his 100,000 police agents were put under control of the Interior Ministry.

It was the biggest Communist shakeup in the East German republic's 4-year history.

Rumors were that Zaisser who often bragged he possessed a direct pipeline to Lavrenty P. Beria —had now forfeited his liberty because of his generation-long friendship with the purged Soviet police boss.

Unconfirmed reports said Wollweber, in taking over Zaisser's office, had immediately begun a drastic investigation of all Zaisser's staff, seeking scapegoats who failed to weed out "Fascist provocateurs" in Soviet zone industry before the June 17 revolt of workers.

Zaisser, who has served Russia as a military man for 18 years, was summarily relieved as security minister yesterday and the ministry itself was reduced to a secretariat and incorporated in the Ministry of the Interior.

Both Zaisser and his chief aide in the Security Ministry, Communist Erich Mielke, have vanished at least temporarily from public view in the continuing governmental crisis.

However, the rumors that Zaisser has been jailed—spread mainly by anti-Communist organizations with headquarters in West Berlin—were discounted by several officers who had deserted from the East German army last week. They said that Zaisser is more likely to make a comeback as minister of the interior controlling both the secret police apparatus and the 125,000 men in the People's Army.

Willi Stoph, present interior minister and member of the Communist Central Committee has been under fire because many German troops were proven "politically unreliable" in fighting strikers in the June rebellion. As a member of both the Politburo and the Central Committee, Zaisser had outranked him in the party.

Youth Hospitalized After Attack by Unidentified Men

John C. Way, 20, of 876 E. Center St. was sent to Marion City Hospital today with injuries reportedly received when he was attacked by three men on a downtown street shortly after 11 p.m. Friday night.

Police reported Way was brought to the police station at 11:33 p.m. by his father, Charles Way, who told police his son was attacked and beaten by three men on N. Main St. a short time earlier.

As his father talked to the police radio dispatcher, John fell to the floor and was immediately placed in a police cruiser and taken to the hospital.

At the hospital he was examined by two doctors, and treated for shock and a deep cut on his head above the left temple. He is reported in "good" condition at the hospital today.

Meanwhile, police are continuing their investigation of the attack, Chief Coon said today.

Eisenhower Predicts East Germany Collapse

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — President Eisenhower today called the Red government of East Germany a "bankrupt regime" and predicted eventual "liquidation of the present Communist dictatorship and the Soviet occupation."

The President, here for conferences of defense leaders, made public a message he has sent to Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany calling anew for free elections in Germany and "the formation of a free all-German government, leading to unification" of the country.

TURNPIKE BIDS ASKED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission today announced advertising of bids to be opened Aug. 26 on 9.4 miles of the super highway in Summit and Portage counties.

NEW CONSTRUCTION AT PANMUNJOM. "Armistice Hall" is fast becoming a reality at Panmunjom as can be seen in this helicopter view. North Korean workers are providing the labor for construction. In immediate background is the conference hut where discussions are being held to finalize arrangements for a possible armistice to end fighting in Korea.

travel to Panmunjom, which could account for the reported change in arrangements.

There were reports that Kim, the ruler of North Korea, had ousted pro-Russian Korean Reds from his Cabinet and replaced them with Koreans whose first loyalty is to Communist China. There were other reports that Kim himself had been purged. These were discounted, but Korean sources agreed he probably was having political troubles at home.

U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs delivered a new message from Secretary of State Dulles to South Korean President Syngman Rhee Saturday.

It answered a message from Rhee asking what the United States would do if a post-armistice political conference fails to insure Korea's unification and demanding a U. S.-Korean security pact.

Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai, who reportedly drafted the Korean note said "We are still awaiting a definite answer from Washington before the signing of an armistice."

Pyun said President Eisenhower's truce envoy, Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson promised answers before an armistice was signed but "We have not received any definite answer from him yet."

Briggs and Rhee conferred for 25 minutes in their fourth meeting in as many days. The ambassador would say only that the message he delivered "concerns the recent negotiations we have been having the past few days."

There was no official word as to when the truce would be signed, but Washington officials said Friday the world would be given 24 hours advance notice.

Allied and Communist liaison officers met intermittently through the day Saturday, finally adjourning at 6:30 p. m. (4:30 a. m. EST) without setting a time for a future meeting. There were reports that the officers completed arrangements for the signing.

Authoritative sources both in Korea and in Washington agreed the signing would be Sunday or Monday (Saturday or Sunday, United States time)—barring a last minute switch by the unpredictable Reds or some new disruptive move by South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

Washington sources said Friday President Eisenhower had given Clark final authority as U. N. commander to sign the truce agreement.

Secretary of State Dulles was noncommittal when asked about prospects of an early truce.

He told newsmen as he left a White House conference that he was "neither optimistic nor pessimistic." And when newsmen asked if he could enlighten them on the prospects of a truce signing over the weekend he replied:

"I'd like a little enlightenment myself."

President Rhee, who warned bluntly Friday that some Allied agreement with the Communists "cannot be allowed to happen," voiced no further threats as the signing deadline approached.

Speedless Speed Cops Advocated for Safety

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—William M. Greene, director of the Connecticut Safety Commission, thinks police shouldn't catch speeders by speeding themselves.

In these days of radio and teletype communications which permit road-blocks to be established promptly, Greene questions whether it's worth while for police to "take such chances with their own lives and the lives of people on the street and highway."

Five Minor Traffic Accidents, Two Arrests Reported in City

Five minor no-injury traffic accidents and two traffic arrests during the last 24 hours were reported today by Marion police.

Two automobiles driven by Garland B. Taylor, 47, of near Marion and Maxine E. Napper of 204½ Latourette St. were damaged considerably in a collision at 7:48 last night at N. Main and George Sts. Both were traveling north on N. Main St. and Taylor was turning onto E. George St., police reported. The right front side of his car and the front end of Mrs. Napper's car were damaged.

Cars driven by Joyce Sanderson of 279 E. Fairground St. and Edward Richardson, 60, of 251 Fairview Ave., were damaged when they sideswiped in an alley beside Drake's Tavern on N. Main St. at 4:30 p.m. Friday. Police reported Mrs. Sanderson was driving west through the alley and Richardson was east.

A collision at a street-alley intersection at 262 N. State St. at 2:15 a.m. Friday caused damage to cars driven by Mildred B. Miller of near Radnor and William W. Davenport, 43, of 316 Park Blvd. Mrs. Miller was driving north on N. State St. and Davenport was traveling east through the alley, police said.

The left rear fender of a car driven by Ray V. Lukas, 56, of Ruth Ave., was damaged in an accident at E. Center and State Sts. at 2:46 p.m. Friday involving another car driven by W. F. Baumgardner, 66, of Iberia. Both were traveling west on E. Center St., police reported.

An unidentified car parked in front of 140 N. Main St at 9:39 p. m. Friday was damaged slightly when struck by a Safety Cab Co. taxi as the driver, W. E. Pletcher, 33, of near Marion pulled into the curb to park. There was no damage reported to the taxi.

Two motorists arrested were David E. Decker, 19, of Key Town Camp on a charge of having an open muffler on his car at 12:16 p.m. yesterday on Delaware Ave., and William Louis Urich, 22, of 537 N. Milburn Ave., charged with having insufficient brakes on his car at 2:16 a.m. today on W. Center St. Both were cited to appear in Municipal Court.

War

Forrest Edwards said Red losses were heavy in the assaults on the Leatherneck positions.

The Communists heralded their attack with artillery and rarely-used Russian-type Katusha rockets. The explosions could be heard at nearby Panmunjom, where Allied and Communnist truce officers ironed out final details of the armistice.

Marine losses were not disclosed, but ambulances carrying casualties rumbled along soggy roads to hospitals.

Edwards reported the Chinese and Marines came to grips in drizzling rain with gun butts, bayonets, and grenades.

The Chinese swept over the crest of Esther after heavy fighting and set up a machine gun nest.

But a handful of Marines rushed the nest with grenades and a counterattack swept the Chinese back off the hill.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported Red rockets also fell on the Central Front northeast of Kumhwa where the Chinese and South Koreans clashed in smaller scale hill fights.

Fighting Falls Off but Tension Rises in Korea

CENTRAL FRONT, Korea (AP)—The faint beginnings of a cautious live and let live attitude could be detected along this war devastated sector of Korean battle line today.

It combined extra vigilance with reluctance to stir up the Communists more than necessary.

Shooting dropped off here, although the Reds continued to attack in the West. But even as the fighting dwindled, tension mounted—tension fed on the realization that American soldiers face one last ordeal, regardless of when the truce agreement is announced.

That ordeal will be the final hours of the war after the agreement at Panmunjom is signed and the actual cease-fire goes into effect 12 hours later.

For more than a month the 8th Army has had standby orders in the hands of frontline commanders — specifying just what the troops will do during that final 12-hour period.

A single word will put those orders into full effect. The details are classified, but in general they all probably call off all offensive action by the Allies unless the Communists attack or obviously prepare to attack.

Man Pleads Guilty To Shoplifting Charge

Clifford Scott Stake, 51, of 326 Cherry St. was fined $50 and costs in Marion Municipal Court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of shoplifting.

Police said they were called to the W. T. Grant Store on W. Center St. at 12:28 p.m. yesterday and found Stake in possession of a utility tool set, a screwdriver, and a suitcase worth a total of some $5 which he had not paid for.

Unable to pay his fine, he was committed to the Marion County jail.

There was no immediate word as to funeral arrangements.

His other survivors include four children—Russell, Charles, Mrs. T. A. Munsen of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. Sterling Dean of Washington, D. C.

Tobey, born July 22, 1880, at Roxbury, Mass., was married three times.

Tobey left school at the age of 16 but was awarded honorary degress of master of arts from Dartmouth College and doctor of laws from the University of New Hampshire.

He once said that his recipe for education, given him by the headmaster of Roxbury Latin School, was to "talk to somebody who knows more than you."

"I've done that," he said. "I've talked to taxi drivers, ministers of the gospel, waiters, senators . . . "Nearly everybody knows more about something than Tobey does."

Tobey had been a farmer and in the insurance and banking business before he got into politics.

He was governor of New Hampshire in 1929-30, after which he won election to the U. S. House and, in 1938, to the Senate. He was re-elected in 1944 and again in 1950. His term would have ended in 1957.

He was a member of tht U. S. delegation to the Bretton Woods, N. H., conferences which formulated plans for the establishment of the World Bank and Monetary Fund.

The base, only six miles from the Red China border, held some 5,000 tons of Red supplies built up during three months of deliveries from Red China. Troops took rebels by surprise and during the 12-hour raid destroyed everything that could not be carted off. Then they made a forced march through the jungle and linked up, after 48 hours, with a relief column sent out from the Hanoi defense area.

Pickens Faces $50,000 Suit

Settlement Asked In Route 30 Fatality

Willie Pickens, in Marion County jail awaiting grand jury action on two charges of manslaughter arising from a fatal accident Sunday on Route 30-S, today faced a $50,000 damage suit also.

The suit was filed Thursday in Common Pleas Court by Donald E. Mathias, administrator of the estate of his father, Harry W. Mathias, one of two men killed Sunday.

Mathias was one of five men in the Dan Matthews car when it was struck head-on, the petition claims, by an automobile driven by Pickens, on Route 30-S about two miles west of Caledonia at 6:30 a.m. The five men were going to Cleveland to attend a baseball game. Pickens was heading west toward Marion.

Mathias died of a fractured skull, internal injuries, and multiple fractures throughout the body. Also killed was H. W. Crissinger, 71, of 139 Dix Ave.

Pickens this week entered pleas of guilty to manslaughter in connection with the two deaths and a plea of not guilty to a charge of reckless operation, lodged against him by investigating state highway patrolmen. He was lodged in the jail when unable to file $5,000 bond set by Municipal Court.

Attorneys for Mathias in this action were Thomas C. Fetter and Holley F. Baker.

Man Arrested After Shooting Rifle in Home

Shot at Bookcase During Family Tiff; Sentence Suspended

A Marion man who reportedly assaulted his wife and fired a 22 caliber rifle into a book case at their home last night was given a suspended fine and jail term in Municipal Court today when he pleaded guilty to intoxication and resisting arrest.

Charles E. Holladay, 31, of 131 Plymouth St. was arrested after another resident of the same address, Ortha Poe, called police at 10:18 p.m. and reported a family fight.

Patrolmen Rollin Beach and Homer Watson went to the house to investigate. When they arrived they looked in through a side window and saw Holladay standing in the living room pointing a rifle at the front door. After calling for additional policemen, Watson went to the rear of the house while Beach spoke through the closed door to Holladay and told him to put the gun down.

Holladay then opened the door empty handed and said he didn't have a gun. Police went inside and found the gun on the floor.

They then asked Holladay to come to the police station with them and he refused. By this time Captain Marion B. Tatham and Patrolman Lawrence Cocherl arrived and Holladay was forcefully loaded in a police cruiser and taken to the police station. He was first booked on an open charge for investigation and intoxication.

Mrs. Holladay told police that her husband had been out drinking and when he came home started arguing with her, attacked her, then got the 22 caliber rifle and fired it into the book case.

Police said Mrs. Holladay had a deep cut on her forehead and numerous bruises about her head and face. In the gun, they found 14 cartridges. The rifle is a pump-gun model.

In Municipal Court today, Holladay pleaded guilty to both charges. He was given a suspended fine of $50 and costs and six months in the Columbus workhouse on the recommendation of George A. Piacentino, acting city prosecutor. Piacentino made the recommendation because Holladay is the father of four children and is their only support. Judge W. Dexter Hazen said.

In addition to the fine and jail term, Judge Hazen ordered both the rifle and a shotgun owned by Holladay confiscated. He also warned Holladay that if he comes back into the Municipal Court again, he will have to serve the six months and pay the fine.

Dry Wooden Stairs Need Fireproofing

About 95 percent of the houses in this country which have cellars are equipped with open, wooden stairways leading to the first floor. These are usually built by running two timbers at an angle from the basement floor to the floor above and providing them with heavy plank steps set on battens. Usually a light handrail completes the job.

As a great proportion of all the house fires in this country have their origin in the basement, the wood steps offer an excellent fuse for carrying the fire upstairs. Naturally, they become very dry as the years pass and our national habit of stocking our cellars with all manner of castoff furniture, accumulated papers and cartons, and other combustible material, adds to the bad situation.

Fireproofing the basement stairs is an inexpensive job and one which the average homeowner can attempt himself. The very design of the standard stair makes it easy. Basically the job consists of completely closing in the back of the stair with sheet-rock or asbestos board nailed to the back edge of the stair carriage timbers as shown in the illustration. The second phase of the work consists of installing 2 x 4 members from the top edge of the same timbers to the inside of the stair opening so as to furnish or provide a framework to which side panels of the fireproof material can be attached.

When this has been done and the inside face of the door at the head of the stairs has also been sheathed, an excellent job of fireproofing has been accomplished. We all know that the main thing about house fires is to prevent the rapid spread of the flames, and anyone interested in having a safer house should start at the bottom and work up. Fire spreads with great rapidity upward and eats downward slowly

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BARRUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

How to save money by spending it is something every house-holder has to learn by experience.

To be penny wise and dollar foolish in making repairs around your house-or in building a new house-just use cheaper materials. You can save money for the time being by using "just - as - good" substitutes, but when the time comes for replacement you'll be paying a double labor bill for something you could have done right in the first place.

In these days, labor bills are nothing to be sneezed at. Do it yourself, figure your own time and you can understand why.

This applies to almost any material used in or around a house-paint, roofing, plumbing-even the vital drain pipes between your house and sewer, septic tank or cesspool-pipes that protect your family's health by keeping sewer water out of your drinking water.

For example, to have a trench dug from your house to the sewer costs on the average, say, around $5 per cubic yard for excavation and refilling. This figure is based on a typical cost of $4 per yard plus a 20 per cent markup. It represents a lot of digging for the amount of pipe to be laid.

The distance from your house to the sewer will determine this labor cost. Supposing it is only 30 feet, and you need a trench 6 feet deep and 2½ feet wide. Your labor bill on this score will run over $80.

MOST OF US react to this by getting sore. We'll shave down costs by using substitute materials. We'll use the cheapest pipe we can get, which will be terra cotta clay, plastic or cellulose pulp.

However, the sad story is that we'll risk the danger of tree roots growing in between the joints in search of moisture and forming dams that will back sewage up into basement or house. We'll risk disjointing by pressure of the backfill, weight from a driveway or trucking over the lawn.

What's the alternative?

Supposing we make a permanent job of it and spend the difference for cast iron soil pipe? This is a material that has stood up for centuries. It is still in use in the London water supply system and in the fountains of Versailles. It might cost around 32 cents per foot compared with around 32 cents for clay pipe-a difference of $15 for 30 feet. But we can figure this as insurance-$15 against $80 for a repeat performance of the ditch diggers, in which case more labor and more material would be involved in new pipe laying.

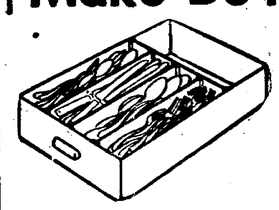
JOINTS IN CAST iron soil pipe are packed with oakum and sealed with molten lead, which allows for flexibility without leakage. No roots can penetrate these joints.

Homer E. Robertson of the Cast Iron Soil Pipe Institute observes that the average family flushes 200 gallons of sewage and dirty water down the drain each day. Even a temporary drainage failure can disrupt a family's living routine. A major breakdown can be a serious health and accident hazard.

TO BUILD CITY GARAGE

BUCYRUS—City council here has authorized Solicitor Robert L. Brown to prepare legislation for construction of a new $30,000 municipal garage to house costly equipment, much of which now is not properly housed. Construction of the garage is expected to be started this fall and the building will be located east of the present city garage.

Make Do



A CUTLERY DRAWER can be kept in neat order by using dividers in the drawer. These are easily made from 1/8-inch tempered hardboard. Pieces of ¼-inch quarter-round molding can be put in with glue or brads to form slots for the dividers. Cross dividers can be fitted by cutting 1/8-inch notches half way through each piece in egg crate fashion. If tempered pressed wood is used there will be no splintering or chipping and the dividers will last indefinitely.

MAN HELD IN SHOOTING

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police were holding a 35-year-old painter today in the fatal shooting of his 23-year-old son-in-law at the painter's home. Shot to death last night was William Collins, 23. Police were holding Clyde Hutton for investigation.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Folding Bathroom Door

Q: We purchased a house a year ago and are now considering remodeling the bathroom. I would like to know if a modern folding door is satisfactory, since it would conserve considerable floor space.

A: I see no reason why a folding door would not be satisfactory. I presume you have in mind the type that folds like an accordian. If so, it comes with a plastic sheet material on the surface and therefore moisture should not have any serious affect on the door or the mechanism

—:—

Remodeling a Fireplace

Q. We want to remodel our fireplace which was built of brick about twenty-five years ago and has a large overhanging mantel. Could you give us the names of some books on remodeling of fireplaces and where they can be purchased?

A: To the best of my knowledge there is no book on the subject of remodeling of fireplaces. There is, however, a book entitled "How to Build a Fireplace" published by Sunset Magazine of San Francisco, Calif. This book is on sale at many book shops which handle a variety of books of interest to the homeowner. This book may have some suggestions that might be helpful in doing over your fireplace.

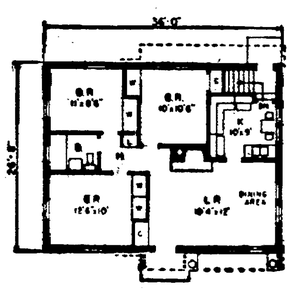
The Convertible



A portion of the roof of this attractive six-room house projects over three trellises creating a cover for the entrance and a sun shield for the picture window. It is contemporary in design.

This has been called "The Convertible" because it is actually no larger than an average five-room house. The third bedroom next to the kitchen could be converted into a dining room by placing a door between the two rooms, or it could be converted into a den, library or an all-purpose room. Note the large wardrobe closets in the bedrooms.

Energy and Patience Needed

To Rejuvenate Furniture

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Writer

A good facial can turn a dusty, grimy piece of furniture into a thing of beauty.

If the wood is good—walnut, mahogany, rosewood, fruitwood, pine—you can enhance its loveliness with a good refinishing job. All you need is energy and perserverance. The time spent will be worth the effort, and in less time than you can visit a furniture store, you will have an attractive article.

HERE'S HOW — "as little brushing as possible."

So dig into the attic or cellar for that little rosewood table or walnut wash stand or mahogany chest that Grandpa stuck in the corner. See if you can't make it prettier than anything you've seen at the country auction.

Here's how according to experts of the Johnson Consumer Education Department:

Remove all old coatings—wax, polish or paint. Start with a generous application of paint or varnish remover, brushing it on and allowing it to stand until the finish is softened and begins to crinkle. Then scrape off the softened varnish or paint with a putty knife while still wet, being careful not to gouge the wood. If the surface looks spotty, repeat both remover and scraper process.

You are now ready to wash your furniture with denatured alcohol or prepared cleaner. Use a dripping rag to clean off the remover. Wipe immediately with a dry rag.

SANDPAPER with two grades of paper. Start with 3-0 and follow with a 4-0 or 5-0 until the surface is smooth. Then proceed as follows using the following: ½ pt. 4 lb. cut white shellac diluted with ½ pt. denatured alcohol, 1" to 1½" bristle brush to apply shellac, 1 pad 000 steel wool, denatured alcohol to clean the brush, paste wax (about 2 ozs.) cloths to apply and polish wax.

Apply a light coat of shellac, doing as little brushing as possible. Try to cover the surface quickly and evenly because shellac begins to set very soon after application. (Clean the brush with denatured alcohol immediately after using it.) Let it dry overnight. Work one section of the piece of furniture at a time, polishing with a dry cloth while the wax is still moist.

THE FINEST FINISH you can achieve on a good piece of furniture involves doing seven coats of shellac and seven sandings. It gives a fine lustrous hard finish. To remove the too-shiny effect mix rottenstone with linseed oil, apply to piece with blackboard eraser, then remove. Apply paste wax the next day. This is hard work but well worth it.

To make sanding easier, you can find little rubber sanding blocks in which you can insert your sandpaper. Sandpaper for final finishing such as the super fine grade of black waterproof sandpaper gives smooth results.

Penguins, which behave so much like people, are biologically a very primitive form of bird.

HOW A MULTI-PURPOSE ROOM adds flexibility to a small house is illustrated in this plan. This room can be used as a third bedroom, if needed, or can become a formal dining room, study, game room or hobby room. Economical to build, this house is a simple rectangle in shape and covers only 1180 square feet. This is Plan 183 by Paul T. Haagen, 360 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill.

THESE LEGS ARE ONE-DIMENSIONAL? Rita Stazi, Miss Italy in the recent Miss Universe contest, was quoted on arrival in Rome as having this to say about Christiane Martel (left) of France, the winner: "Why, she has no legs . . . I mean she has no ankles—her legs are one dimensional." Miss Martel, now at Universal-International studio where she has a movie contract, said, "I do not understand—the judges picked me as Miss Universe and I guess I am." But Myrna Hansen (right) of Chicago, Miss U.S.A., who finished second, said she thought Miss Stazi ought to show "a little more sportsmanship."

Pittsburgher Has Recording Hobby

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—Some historian of the future is going to bless the name of Bob Dixon, Pittsburgh insurance, realty and estate management expert.

The future scholar probably will find one of his most important sources of study of this era in the library of the real estate man. And the library doesn't consist of books. The big thing to the historian will be Dixon's 10,000 sound recordings, dating back for nearly a quarter of a century.

Dixon has been spending his spare time recording all important speeches made in his lifetime. Although a storage room of his home already is packed with filing cases of thousands of recordings, Dixon still records every important occasion.

For instance, during the critical period leading up to World War II he recorded speeches by Mussolini, Hitler, Haile Selassie, Chamberlain and others in the thick of events. He can play back the present Duke of Windsor's famous abdication speech when he gave up the British throne for the "woman I love." He also can play major speeches of big political campaigns and other important events.

To get his recordings Dixon uses special high - fidelity radio receivers and sound equipment. He has a battery of recording equipment built into rack panels. He even has a portable unit which he uses to record programs while he watches television. To top it off, he has automatic timing equipment in his studio which can be set to turn on his rig, record a program at any hour and turn it off again.

With his equipment Dixon can transfer recordings from disk or tape to new reels without any loss of tone. Then he can erase the former tapes and use them over again.

Dixon grudges neither time nor expense in his hobby. His one aim is to build a record library that will be a real heritage for the future.

INFANT BUFF

SOUTHINGTON, Conn. (UP) — Firemen hurried to Bradley Memorial Hospital when an alarm was sounded from the institution. When they arrived, they learned a 30-month-old child had reached from his crib and pulled the alarm lever.

Museum Gets Big South Seas Haul

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. National Museum has netted its biggest haul of South Seas animal life in more than a century.

The catch includes pink worms with gold porcupine quills, black sea urchins, and spined oysters—rare zoological finds but nothing anyone would want to adopt.

The expedition headed by Dr. J. P. E. Morrison, naturalists of the Smithsonian Institution, found these specimens hard to handle. The worms are covered with invisible glass-like hairs that sting anyone attempting to hold them and the sea urchins protect themselves against the human touch with a skin-irritating film.

The coral atoll of Raroia, 450 miles northeast of Tahiti, was the site of the expedition. Pearl-divers, capable of remaining under water at a depth of 40 feet for three minutes, assisted in the collection of marine specimens.

Playing in the treetops on the island the group found a small, squirrel-like rat that prefers to remain aloft feeding on seeds and coconuts to coming down and meeting zoologists.

NEVER VOLUNTEER

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb. (UP — Herb Minor, vice president of the fire department, volunteered his garage as an experimental fire hazard inspection site. The inspecting officer found the garage a poor fire risk.

Lead Me Gently Home

Composer is grateful for his good fortune

Six dollars and 25 cents. That's what a Cleveland music dealer offered the youthful composer for each of four songs. Such material, he said, could be had in abundance at no charge. But Will Thompson thought differently, especially of his "My House on the Old Ohio," and "Gathering Shells from the Seashore." So he rolled up his manuscripts and went back home to East Liverpool.

In New York, on a business trip for his merchant father, the youth carried his songs to a job printer. He would have them run off and see to the sales himself. No sooner had "Gathering Shells from the Seashore" hit the stands than the printer had to hire extra help. The presses ran night and day for months. Will Lamartine Thompson became known as both "The Bard of Ohio" and "The Millionaire Song Writer."

Those who knew him say that Will Thompson's gift for writing music and poetry was matched with "a fine character of sincerity, simplicity and righteousness." At any rate, Will Thompson felt that he owed something to the good Lord for his good fortune. He turned his talents to writing sacred songs.

With money earned from his secular music, he set up his own firm for publishing song books. His sacred quartets alone sold two million copies and his gospel songs circled the globe.

THERE WERE NO phonograph machines, no radio or television sets. People in big cities went to the great revivals to hear big name gospel singers. . . . Ira Sankey, Philip Bliss, James McGranahan. But rural people, for the most part, could not attend the great revivals. So Will Thompson bought a two-horse dray, loaded an upright piano on it and drove out into the country to play and sing his own songs, "There's A Great Day Coming," "Jesus is All the World to Me," and the one of which Evangelist Dwight L. Moody said, "I would rather have written than anything I have been able to do in my whole life," . . . "Softly and Tenderly, Jesus is Calling."

WILL LAMARTINE THOMPSON was born in East Liverpool, Ohio, in 1847. He died there in 1909. He lies at rest on a hillside overlooking the winding Ohio, that he made famous in a song for which a music dealer once offered $6.25. But Will Thompson is remembered best for his songs of the church. And old time residents fondly recall "The Millionaire Song Writer" when he drove his dray into the country to play and sing, among others, this song that bespoke the "fine character of sincerity, simplicity and righteousness" of the man who wrote it.

Lead me gently home, Father, Lead me gently home,
When life's toils are ended, and porting days have come;
Sin no more shall tempt me. Ne'er from Thee I'll roam,
If Thou'lt only lead me, Father, Lead me gently home.

Lead me gently home, Father, Lead me gently home,
In life's darkest hours, Father, when life's troubles come,
Keep my feet from wandering, Lest from Thee I roam,
Lest I fall upon the wayside, Lead me gently home.

Lead me gently home, Father, Lead me gently home,
In temptation's hour, Father, when sore trials come;
Be Thou near to keep me, Take me as Thine own,
For I cannot live without Thee, Lead me gently home.

(Chorus)
Lead me gently home, Father, lead me gently,
Lest I fall upon the wayside, Lead me gently home.

Confident Living

How You Can Get Uplift Of Your Spirits

By Norman Vincent Peale

I want to share a letter with you. It came from one of my readers who feels that I have helped him and is trying to pass on my message to others. He heads a large cosmetic company on the West Coast and the letter he sent me is a copy of one he has sent to all is employees. It reads:

"Dear Partners:

"Most of us would quickly criticize our factory chemist if he used any but the purest and finest ingredients in compounding the products which go into our gleaming jars and sparkling bottles. We know that low grade, off color or rancid raw materials mixed together produce products of poor quality—cosmetics that fail and are rejected. Our success as a company and as individuals would be endangered!

DR. PEALE

"Your are daily . . . you are hourly mixing together, in the whirling mixing vat of your mind, the ingredients that will determine what kind of finished product you will become. As Emerson says, 'You will become what you think.' The question to honestly answer to yourself is this: as the personal chemist of your own future life, are you putting enough of the fine raw materials of faith, confidence, effort, study and golden rule into the 'mix' of your life?

—:—

"ARE YOU GUARDING against adding rancid thoughts of yesterday's unpleasant experiences, mistakes or failures? . . . against the discoloring thoughts of 'expecting the worst' . . . of unhappy attitude . . . of deeply embedded resentments? Are you pouring into the mixing vat of your mind the weakening thoughts of 'My territory is different' or 'I'll do it tomorrow' or 'I can't improve' or a feeling of inferiority or inadequacy.

"IF YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE A MIRACLE TAKE PLACE IN YOUR LIFE, DO THIS FOR THE NEXT 10 DAYS . . .

"First thing each morning empty yesterday's residue. Clean and shine the vat of your mind! Do it just like our chemist makes spotless and sparkling the great stainless steel hoppers in our manufacturing department. Spend 30 minutes before work each day pouring bucketsfull of 'more faith in yourself and your fellowman' into your mind . . .more study. Then go out and mix for six solid hours with 'better effort.' Sprinkle in enough fine perfume labeled 'Golden Rule.'

—:—

"IF YOU ARE SHORT in your supply of it . . .and want to know where to find unlimited quantities of that fine ingredient 'more faith,' get out your Bible, the one your mother gave you. Read the little verse, Philippians 4:13. If you still need more . . . Romans 8:31. Repeat these two verses daily, and your supply of faith in yourself and others will become boundless!

"You will see a miracle happen in your life!

"Your Partner in Progress."

This is the dynamic message of a man who has learned how to get his spirits lifted and is eager to tell others about it. We are making progress in this world when the head of a large business wants not only to make a better product, but to make better people.

—:—

ONLY BETTER people make better products; only better people lead better lives. Only people whose thoughts are clean and high and good and creative and sparkling and filled with faith become the better people who lead the better lives and make the better products and a better world. Get your spirits lifted and join them today in this creative and dynamic pattern of living.
